In 25 years, South High has seen a lot of history, made some of her own, and changed considerably. These changes are seen not only in the building itself, but in the activities, sports, organizations, and people of the faculty and student body.

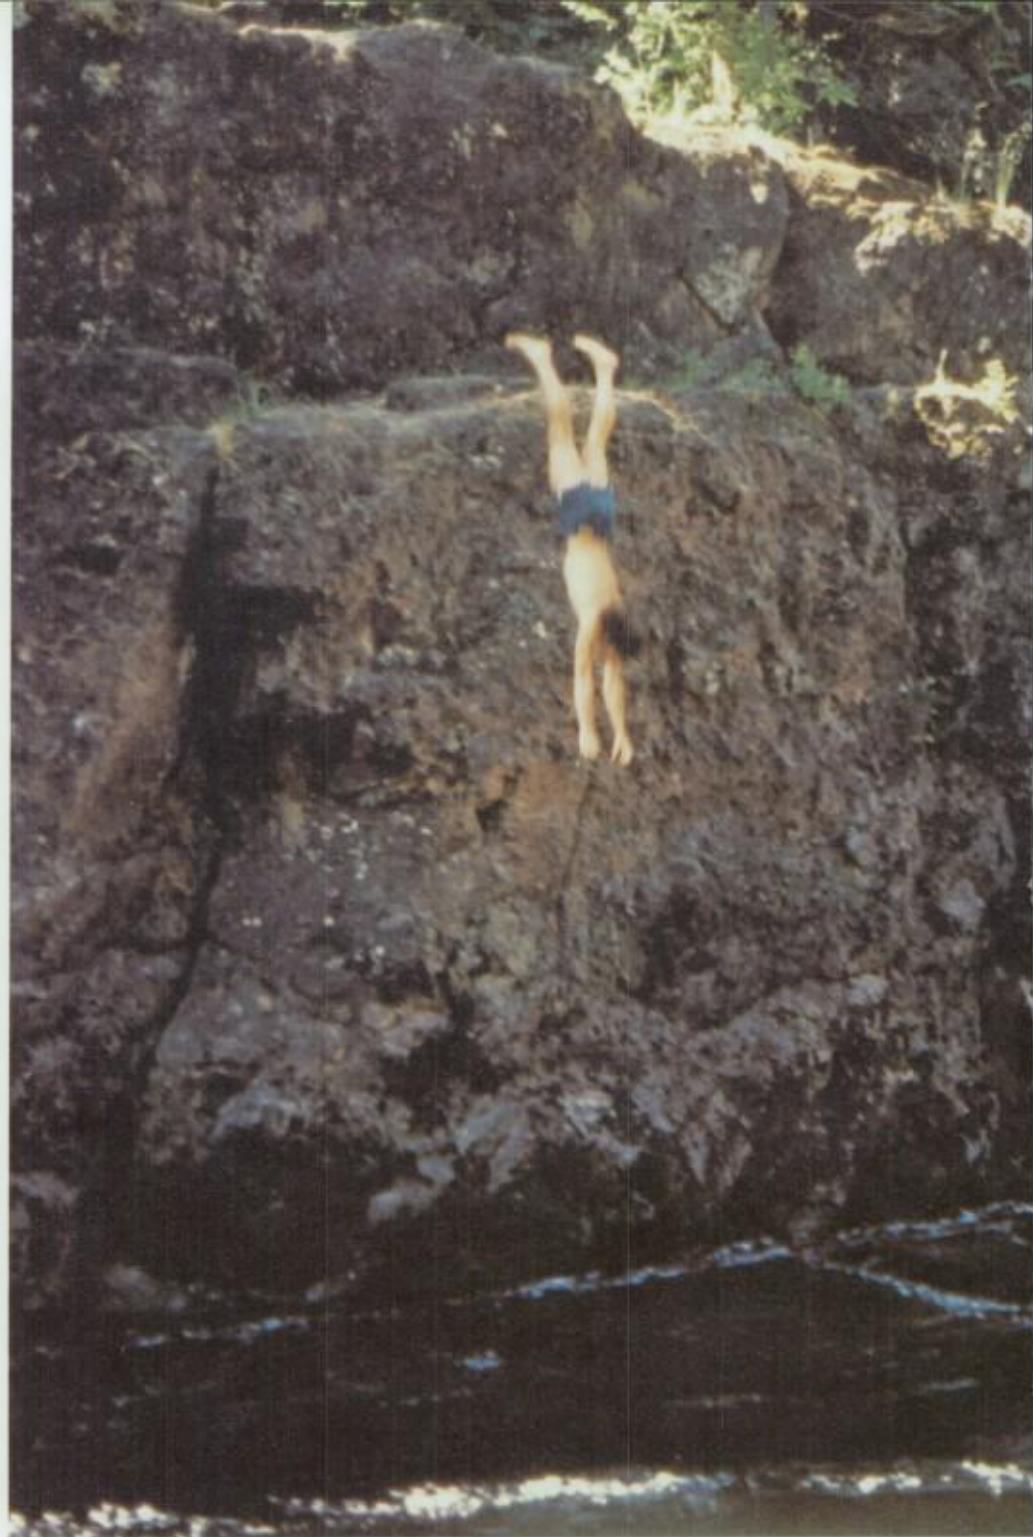

Four current faculty members remember the first day South opened her doors in 1953, those being Mrs. Leah Smith, Mr. Lou DeLoretto, Miss Shirley Zimdars, and Miss Goldie Kulbel. Mr. Carl Aschenbrenner, the original principal, was succeeded by Mr. Wes Ediger in 1972.

Among the sports highlights of the past 25 years are the boys' football team taking state in 1971 and the girls' basketball team taking the State Championship in 1976 will be remembered for some time. The organization of the girl's team had just been sanctioned that year.

The Y.M.C.A. Snow Ball, a yearly city-wide event, has been around since South opened in 1953. This has been a favorite tradition, and has been held at the fairgrounds, the capital rotunda, and the Lancaster Mall.

The redoing of the gym floor in 1978, the fixing of the long-unused fountain in the courtyard in the same year, and the new plaques for the gym, done in 1977, are the most recent additions to the building itself.

"South Salem High, Sough Salem High, thy name is in our hearts. Our love for thee shall always be of nobler thoughts and deeds. Our school has chosen the Saxon for strength and we know she will strive toward brighter goals, toward victory for South Salem. Our hearts we pledge Sough Salem High to stad by thee, to give to thee our love, our faith, and our praise."

In working with the School Board, Mr. Ediger was quoted as saying, "Our hope is... to make as many personal contacts with students and parents as possible." With the in-coming Freshmen and Sophomores, the task was made double difficult.

In the 1980-81 year Salem area high schools were expected to change to a four year system. Therefore ninth graders would be coming into the high schools. The school board expected to offer a full range of classes in the Freshman curriculum. They were working on academic programs and activities for the underclassmen.

Two tasks that the school board undertook were working on a seven period day, a plan that they rejected, and bettering the Advisor/Advisee program.

Bart Simmons listens intently to the discussion at hand.

Administration Reaches Goals

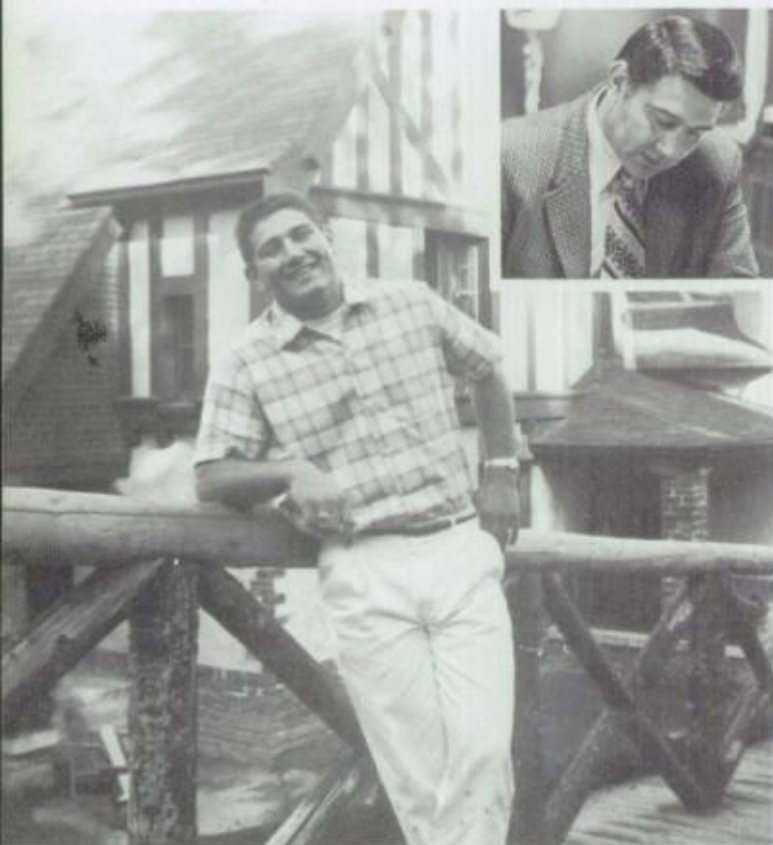

A new face was present among the administrative staff this year, as Mr. Paul Shaffer became the new vice-principal. He replaced Mr. Marv Heater, who transferred to Douglas McKay High School (to become principal there).

Mr. Wes Ediger had some definite goals in mind for the year. When speaking of his assistants, he stressed that to work together was their goal. The main goal throughout the year was "... to be a better service to the students," according to Mr. Ediger.

Aside of everyday duties, the staff could be found participating in pie throws, controlling snowball fights, and making sure that everyone had their measles vaccinations.

Secretaries

Keep Busy

Throughout the year students, parents, teachers and others found it very easy to take for granted the extreme amount of work which the secretarial staff accomplished. Composed of thirteen members, the staff typed memos, answered telephones, counted money, and worked with all different kinds of people.

Mrs. Sharon Coulson was the head secretary, and her role was to manage the main office. Mrs. Joan Otto took on the many responsibilities of the Guidance Center secretary.

Counselors are: People helping people

There were many new changes in the counselling department. The advisory program added was explained by Mrs. Dorothy Judd: "Counselors still work with the students alphabetically by last name, but the alphabet is broken down into approximately 20 advisor groups who, along with their teacher-advisors, are assigned to each counselor."

Advisors helped students academically, commented Mrs. Judd, "in choices of courses, long-range school plans, credits, and competencies. It (the program) provided more individual information concerning academic work. One advantage to the new program was that students could check their records personally on a regular basis."

Replacing the head of the Guidance Department, Mrs. Judy Patterson, was Mr. Loren St. Lawrence. Mrs. Patterson had left at the end of the first semester for employment at McKay High School. New counselors included Mrs. Barbara Cross, Mr. Des Howarth, and Mr. John Struven. When Mr. Struven was asked what he thought of South, he replied, "I like the challenges, cooperation, and the friendliness of the people here."

They feed our hungry and make our mess less

Sweeping floors, cleaning chalkboards, and mopping up spilled milkshakes was not the only work the building maintenance did. For some of them, engineering was also a part of their job. According to Bob Hanson, head engineer of the second shift, the boilers were kept going 24 hours a day during the winter's cold spell. Mr. Bill Hoirup was preparing to retire after 25 years of service to the Saxons; he was even around to unload the school's original furniture.

The fact that head cook Kay Harris and her colleagues love kids was the main reason why they chose their jobs of cooking at schools. At 5:30 AM the cooks began preparing lunches for students at seven other schools (Leslie and the six neighboring grade schools) as well as for South. The end of the lunch hour didn't mean that the cooks' work was finished for the day. They had to stay well into the afternoon to clean up and begin preparation for the next day's lunch.

Media goes mod

Expanding student knowledge of how to use Media material was the main goal of the Library-Media staff. The staff also adopted the name of Library-Media teachers as opposed to being called "Librarians."

Mrs. Nancy Gordan (head librarian), said that "instructional guides" had been developed to provide students with "lessons on how to develop library skills."

The Library-Media staff worked directly with the teaching staff to inform the teachers of lessons contained in the instructional guides.

Any teacher wishing to use the (instructional) guides could have had a member of the Library-Media staff share the lessons with his or her class. Using the guides enabled many students to learn more about the Library-Media Center.

Business Department adds new typing system

The Business Education staff had many performance goals for their department as well as teaching goals. Overall, however, the goal was to prepare students to function in business situations and deal with personal business transactions outside the classroom.

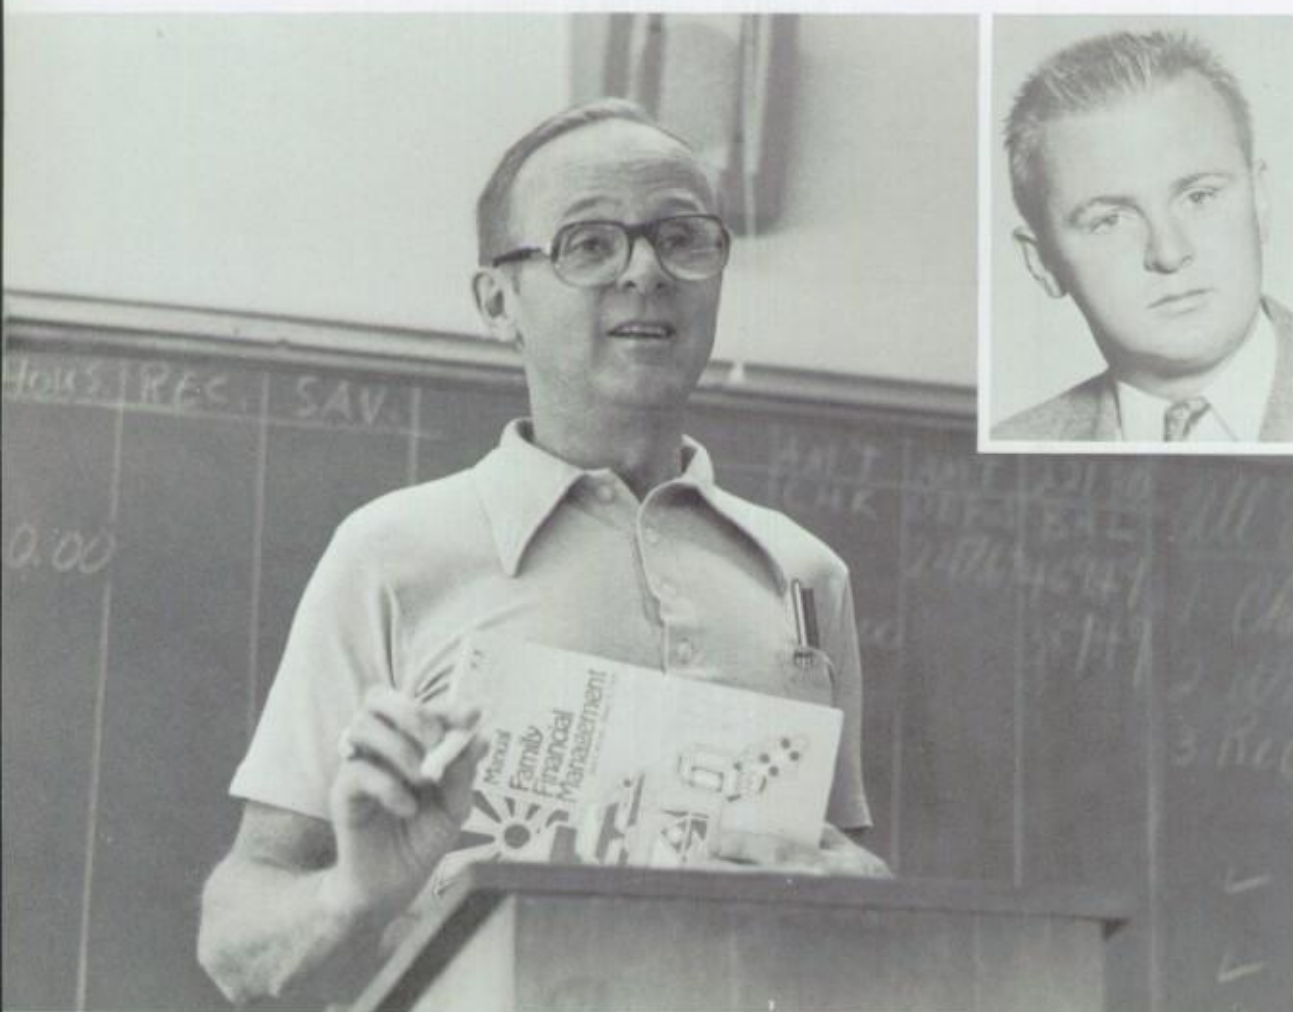

Mr. David Coronel, department head, took over from Mrs. Dorothy Judd (who became a counselor) in 1968. He was completing his 10th year as department chairman.

As far as student enrollment in business classes, Mr. Coronel commented, "We're really loaded this year." The only business class required of students was two semesters of Personal Finance.

The Business Department received a Lanier Typing System on a rental basis. This was the latest machine on the market. Students in Machine Transcription, Typing II, and Office Machines used this machine in their classes. However, anyone in the school was welcome to use it. As Mrs. Connie Tjernberg said, "We'd like for other people to come in and use it. It's probably easier to learn how to use than the Memorex typewriter and it's fun to look at a T.V. screen—everyone's used to that!"

One of the English Department's goals for the year was to work out an English curriculum for the ninth graders, one that would comply with the district requirements for the model plan. Mr. Alan Ball, the department head, seemed enthused with the idea of a semester of writing and a semester of speech.

Many new additions to the English staff were not new to the overall roster of teachers at South. Mrs. Audrey Fellingine taught Personal Finance here before becoming an English teacher. Mrs. Anne Terry and Mr. Jim Grant both taught part time before taking on a full schedule of classes. Mr. Ray Finnell, on the other hand, was the only completely new addition to the staff. Along with teaching English, he was the technical director for the school plays.

Language teachers say: bonjour, hola, guten tag!

Something different was done at South this year. A teacher from Germany, Miss Dorothea Simon, exchanged teaching positions with Miss Rosemarie Maurer, South's German teacher. The two teachers traded houses for a year while teaching in their new positions. Miss Simon found many differences in the school systems of Germany and America. She liked the American system better than the German system, but both had their advantages and disadvantages.

The higher level language classes were combined because of the school budget and the low enrollment. Mr. Alan Ball was elevated to a higher position as head of the English Department, reducing his teaching load of French to one class. Mrs. Pat Moss, a teacher from Leslie Junior High, engaged in one period of Spanish at South. Another difference in the language department was the dropping of Russian as a class.

Two new faces seen at South this year were Mr. Terry Fischer and Mr. Cliff Stevens. They were added to the Special Education Department, enlarging the staff. Mr. Fischer was a graduate of O.C.E. and taught in Dallas before coming to South. He worked with students who were limited in their abilities, needing help in certain areas. Mr. Stevens headed the Developmental Learning Center (DLC). The DLC was a new program started at South High and North High. Mr. Stevens worked with students who had severe learning disabilities. They concentrated on living skills and preparing themselves for the outside world. Mr. Stevens commented, "I'm happy with way things are going and the staff has been very supportive."

Department head Mr. Larry Hayward said, "We are trying to open facilities to more students, such as students with reading difficulties and other minor problems." One of the goals of the staff was to start working more together and to get more students involved in the program.

Department adds new head

"The main goal of the Social Studies Department is to bring the courses in line with the Comprehensive Education Process (CEP)," reported Mr. Jim Hadden, new department head. "It will take more than one year to accomplish this, but eventually, all high schools in the district will have the same teaching materials and courses for social studies, making it easier for transfer students."

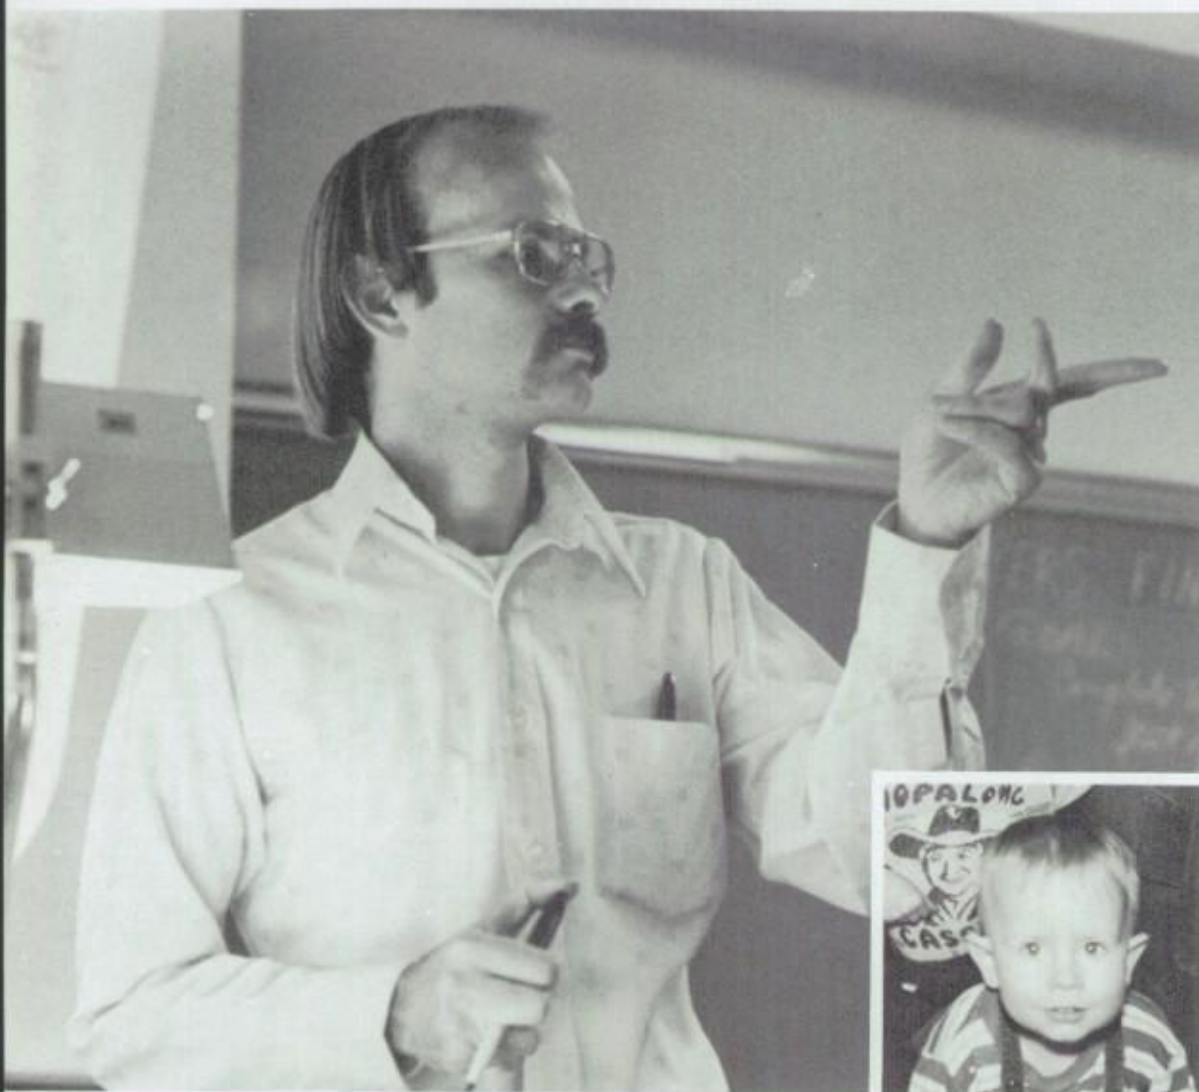

Two new people were added to the Social Studies Department. Miss Rose Sthay, who taught psychology for three periods a day, and Mr. Jim Hadden, who had previously taught at North Salem High for nine years, immediately prior to coming here.

Along with the new teachers, four new classes were also added to the curriculum. These were the Advanced Citizenship I and II classes, World History, and World Geography.

Students from grades 9 - 12 had to take at least one year of Citizenship, one year of Personal Finance, $\frac{1}{2}$ year of an elective, and $1\frac{1}{2}$ years of U.S. History.

Math department first in State

"At-Pac (Atlantic-Pacific Math League) Tests" were very familiar words for the students involved in Mathematics. There were five schools in Oregon that gave the tests: South, Benson, Clackamas, Medford, Tigard, and Sprague. At the end of the year 78-79, there were 259 schools in the nation that belonged to the club. Out of those 259, South placed 59th after one month. The tests were given approximately ever month, for a total of six tests a year. "At-Pac" originated in the eastern states and was given in public and private high schools to advanced math students.

18% of the state Honor Roll, taken from the National Math Test, a test given annually in nearly every high school in the United States and Canada, was South Salem students. Mr. Dick Mosman, department head, said that they were constantly increasing that percentage. Being ranked number 1 in the state and Northern region, and 27th in the North America, Mr. Mosman set the Math Department goal at the National Math Award.

Music is the key

Mr. Mike Crawford and Mr. Dave Becker were kept moving as approximately 550 students enrolled in at least one of the various music classes offered.

Along with directing the Concert Choir, Saxon Singers, Saxon Choir, and the Southernaires, Mr. Crawford had the opportunity of adding another group to the music department: a select girls ensemble. As the group was not yet part of the curriculum, Mr. Crawford met with the 18 member ensemble after school.

Mr. Becker directed the Stage Band, Concert Band, Orchestra, and the new Saxon Band, the latter consisting primarily of sophomore students. He also taught guitar first semester and music theory second semester.

Both teachers noticed improvement in the abilities of the students in their classes. As Mr. Crawford put it, "The Music Department has grown in number and quality."

"The Art teachers do work closely with the students!" said Cathy Baker, an active art student who excelled in drawing during her three years at South. Art teachers Mr. Ken Jacobsen, Mrs. Linda Poole, and Mrs. Karin Hughes were found helping students to improve and gain a greater interest in their artistic abilities.

Design class, which was a prerequisite to all other art classes offered, was taught by all three teachers. One of the Art Staff's goals was to make Design more interesting by having a variety of things for students to learn, such as pottery and batik.

Besides the basic Design class, there were classes in printmaking, calligraphy, jewelry, painting, pottery, drawing, fibers, and A.C.E. (Art Career Explorations), which was a class for students who had a genuine interest in furthering their art beyond high school.

Come shop around

A goal of the Industrial Education Department was to teach students safety procedures when working with shop equipment.

Courses offered included Photography, Drafting, Woods, Metals and Mechanics, along with a new course, Power Mechanics.

Students in the mechanics section of Industrial Ed built lawn mowers and engines as two of their projects. Students in the wood classes built stepladders, grandfather clocks, and many different types of furniture. Work Experience in Photography and Power Mechanics was available to students so they could find out if the job was really right for them.

"We try to be in the class room after school or have someone know where we are or can be reached," said Home Economics Department Head, Mrs. Alma Wells. "We try to be positive towards all students. These are goals we are all trying to reach."

The Home Ec Department added new toys in the Child Care classes because of a federal grant. Besides Child Care, many other classes were offered. Students could take cooking classes such as Main Dish Cookery, Pastry and Preserves, and Creative Meals. Sewing courses included Clothing I and II. Human Relations, Adult Living, and Interior Design were also offered.

P.E. and Health Departments jogging along

"This year we are field testing the new Comprehensive Education Process (CEP)," said Department Head Mr. Dick Ballantyne. The CEP was put into effect so that the same P.E. and health courses would be offered at all four Salem high schools.

Students had a wide variety of P.E. classes offered to them, which included tennis and net games, weight training, gymnastics, and team sports. Sophomores were required to take one semester of P.E.

Replacing Mr. Ken Wilson was Mr. Terry Haugen, a former student and student teacher at South High. He taught three periods of P.E. and two of Health. Mr. Haugen was quoted as saying, "It's great to be back!"

Saxons are great . . .

"Our greatest strength was team unity," said fourth year Head Football Coach Dave Johnson. "I've never seen a team so close, with no divisions between classes."

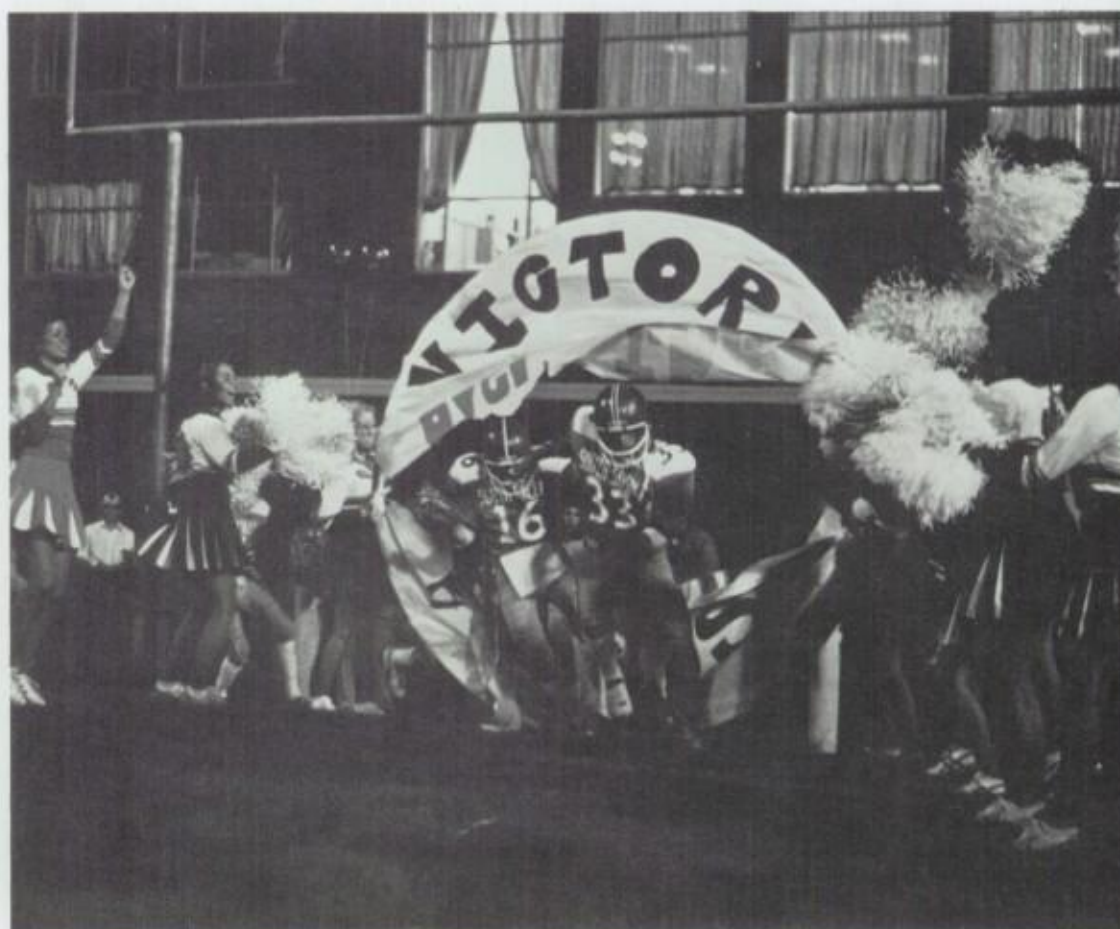

Led by captains Alan Haugen, Todd Phillips, and Toby Wiltse, the Saxons finished the season with a 7-2 win-loss record and over 3000 yards total offense.

"Since we were such a team concept," said Coach Johnson, "there weren't as many individual stars as in previous years." Some of the outstanding players included Senior Todd Phillips, fullback, who rushed for a total of 942 yards this season, and Senior Alan Haugen, who played quarterback and threw almost 800 yards in passes.

The Saxons offensive line was composed of five very talented linemen. Junior Mike Lee, seniors Kelly Hughes, Tom Kraus, Mark Lambert, and Scott Oliver were responsible for the fact that the offense scored 233 points this season.

The defense included seniors Howard Hines, Toby Wiltse, and Chris Clemens. They helped hold opponents to a grand total of 113 points. Other seniors deserving recognition were: Craig French, Dale Stalie, Rick Suydam, and John Fitzmaurice.

Outstanding games of the season included a victory over Sprague, 31-0, and the 50-21 defeat of West Albany.

The team barely missed a play-off spot in a heartbreaking loss to Corvallis, with only minutes left in the game.

On November 13th, awards were given to the outstanding team members of the year. "Outstanding Back" went to Todd Phillips, and "Most Inspirational" was given to Dave Bigej. "Outstanding Lineman" was a co-award shared by Scott Oliver and Kelly Hughes. "Most Improved" was shared by Dave Bigej, Kelly Hughes, and Howard Hines. The "Achievement Award" was given to Howard Hines and Todd Phillips, both of who were picked to 1st team all-league.

Speaking of their seven wins and two losses record, J.V. football quarterback Dave Dowling remarked, "We had a great season and obtained most of our goals." For the fourth year in a row the J.V.'s beat every other Salem school, making them "City Champs" once again. Head Coach Greg Marks commented, "We had lots of good kids and talent. There should be a lot of kids from this team playing varsity football next year."

"Both teams ran up to their potential," stated Coach Ron Cross at the end of the Cross Country season. At the district meet both the boys and the girls teams placed high. The boys placed third with a good run by Jim Hutchinson and the girls took second behind the strength of Debbie Knytych. The Girls Varsity team also went on to state with help from Freshman Shawn Susee.

According to Coach Cross, the outstanding boy of the season was Jim Hutchinson and the outstanding girl was Debbie Knytych. Coach Cross also added that the most improved boy of the season was Dave Van Eaton and the most improved girl was Julie Kitzmiller.

Adding his knowledge of running and coaching abilities to the team was Assistant Coach Jim Grant.

Three seniors and five juniors endured over 225 hours of warm-ups, drills, games, and chalk talks throughout the volleyball season. A product of this dedication and hard work was a district tie for first place with Corvallis!

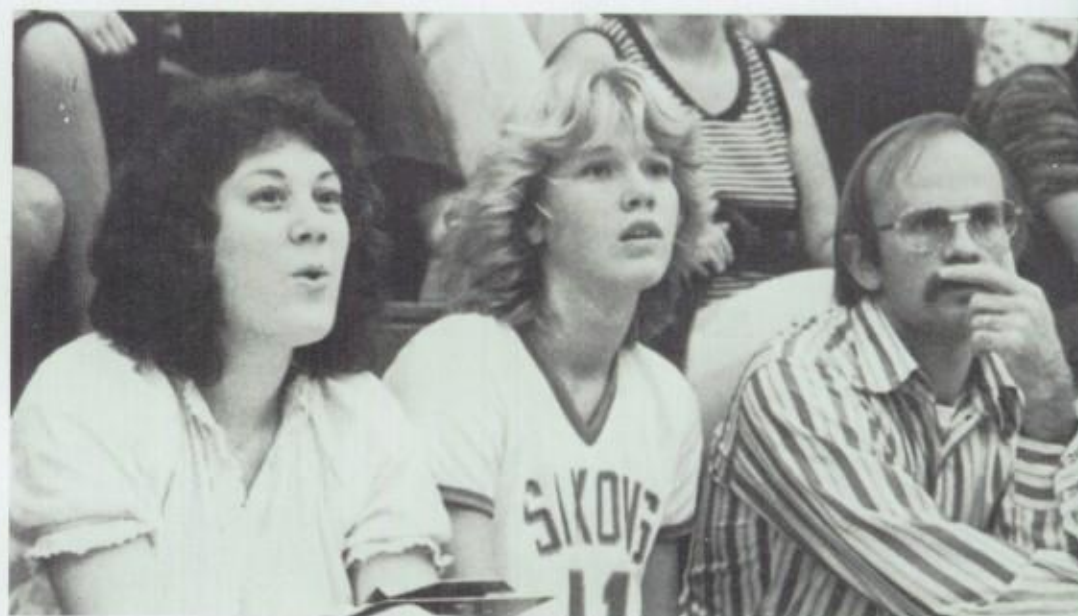

A 22-4 win-loss record was the result of a team which was composed of "good coordination and teamwork," as stated by Coach Terry McLaughlin. Even with this record though, the team did not quite make the state playoffs. Marshfield High defeated South's playoff hopes by sliding past them in a post season game.

Corvallis was the main threat to the volleyers this year, as the Spartans handed the team two of their four losses. McNary and Marshfield accounted for the other two losses. A highlight of the season, however, came when the Saxons emerged from a Newberg Tournament as undefeated champions.

Deltra Ferguson acted as team captain for the year. Outstanding spikers were Janell Ediger and Lynn Eaton. Janell, speaking of her coach, added, "I love him . . . he knows so much." Stacey Wipf was considered the best passer and diver, according to Coach McLaughlin. Setting the ball extremely well throughout the season were Kelly McGhehey and Deltra Ferguson.

Set Up Offense

At the start of the volleyball season, the J.V.s began working on their basic skills to set up a good offense. These skills included bumps, sets, spikes, and serves. "For being a young team, they stuck with the basics, and it helped to win," said Coach Debbie Cleaver. Debbie was a student teacher from Willamette University.

There were four juniors and five sophomores on the J.V. team. The juniors were headed by Joan Fowler, one of the primary setters, and by Judy Sommer, a spiker. Tami Fritz and Cynthia Kreitzberg were also used throughout the season. Sophomores Lynnette Hamilton (captain) and Laurie Southwell traded off as setters. Jan Wetherbee and Lisa Wipf shared the responsibility of passing and spiking, while Charlene Wascenske had the assignment of serving.

The J.V. team finished their season with a win-loss record of 10-6.

Gymnasts Have Year of Growth

Coach Rob Huddleston and his boys' gymnastics team experienced a tough 1978-79 season. Although practicing three long hours a day, the team was only able to win two out of their eight meets.

When the district meet rolled around, the team was ready to make themselves known. However, Ron Tuff was injured just before the meet and was not able to offer his skills. Although Tuff did not participate, his teammates were able to receive 10th place out of twelve teams in the district meet.

According to second year coach Huddleston, all-around competitor Ron Tuff was the outstanding gymnast. Chhivinda Khlok took the honors as the most improved gymnast of the season.

Girls' Gymnastics take district 2nd

Placing second in district was the girls' gymnastics team with an 8 and 1 win-loss record! Losing only their first meet of the season, to Crescent Valley, was a team with a surprisingly small amount of experience.

After district, two sophomores took on the exciting challenge of the state meet held at Portland State University. Ruth Herman placed seventh on the beam as well as eighth on the uneven bars. Her teammate, Julie Tennenhouse (who had an exceptional district performance), placed twelfth on the uneven bars and also participated in the floor exercise.

Tori Peters provided most of the experience for the team, as she was the only senior participating.

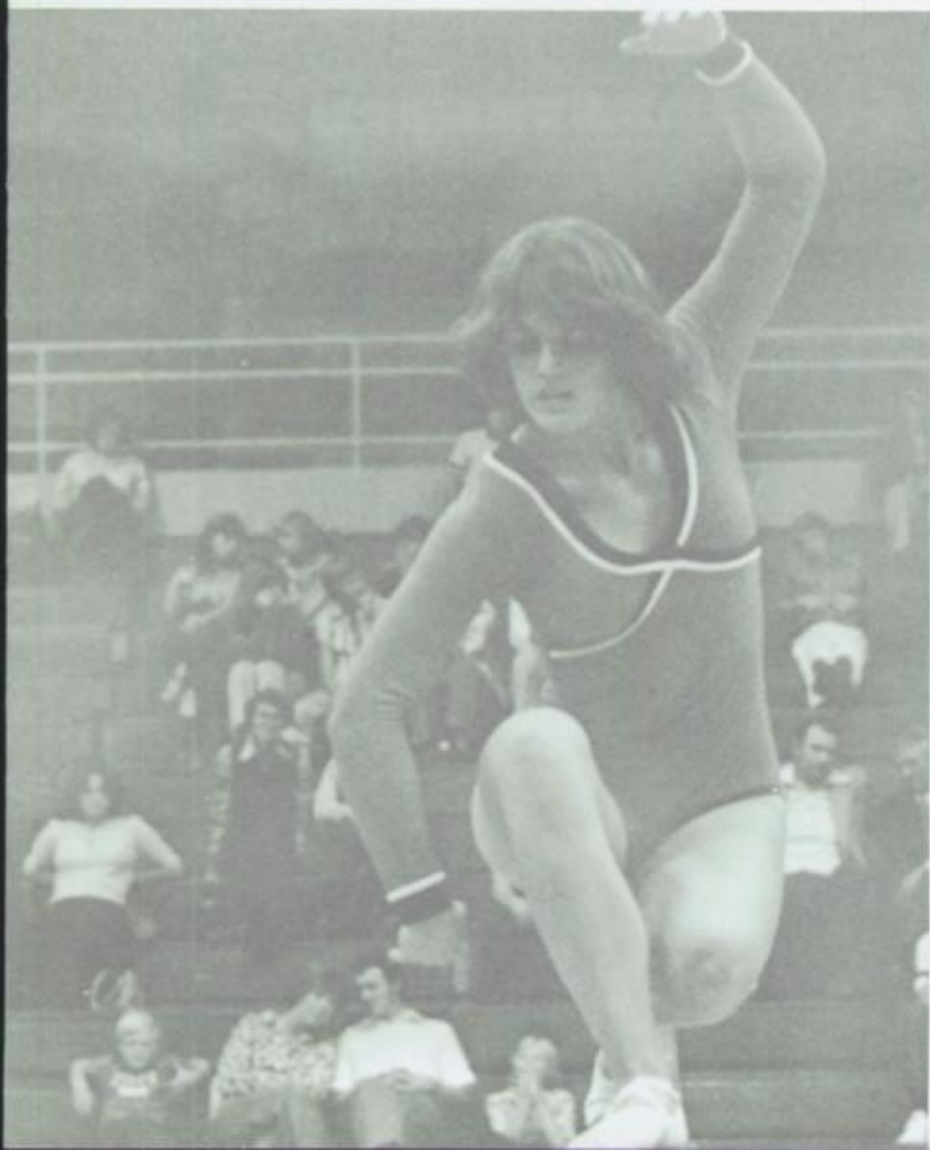

Leading the girls to an extremely successful year was Head Coach Sandie Baker. Miss Baker was a student from Oregon College of Education (OCE).

Experiencing an outstanding season were the boys' and girls' swim teams! With a win-loss record of 9-0-1, the boys team had a very successful year. The girls' team swam to a record of five wins, two losses and one tie.

At the district meet, the girls' team placed fifth, and doubled their points from the year before. The boys' placed a very strong first, for the second year in a row.

At the state meet, held at Mt. Hood Community College, the boys' team combined their individual and relay talents to capture 10th place. Scott Kerr placed 2nd in the 100 yd. freestyle and 4th in the 200 yd. individual medley. John McDonald captured 10th place in the 100 yd. and 200 yd. freestyle. In the medley relay, Lundy Smith, Steve Johnson, Steve Kirkpatrick, and Gary Veteto worked together to pull a 12th place. Jim Kerr, John McDonald, Scott Kerr, and Zac Snow were those who made up the 6th place free relay team.

Two girls (both freshmen) were able to participate in the state meet: Mary Ann Ahmed placed 16th in the 100 yd. backstroke while her teammate, Maggie Simmons, took 16th in the 500 yd. freestyle.

Seniors lead Wrestlers to 14-9 record

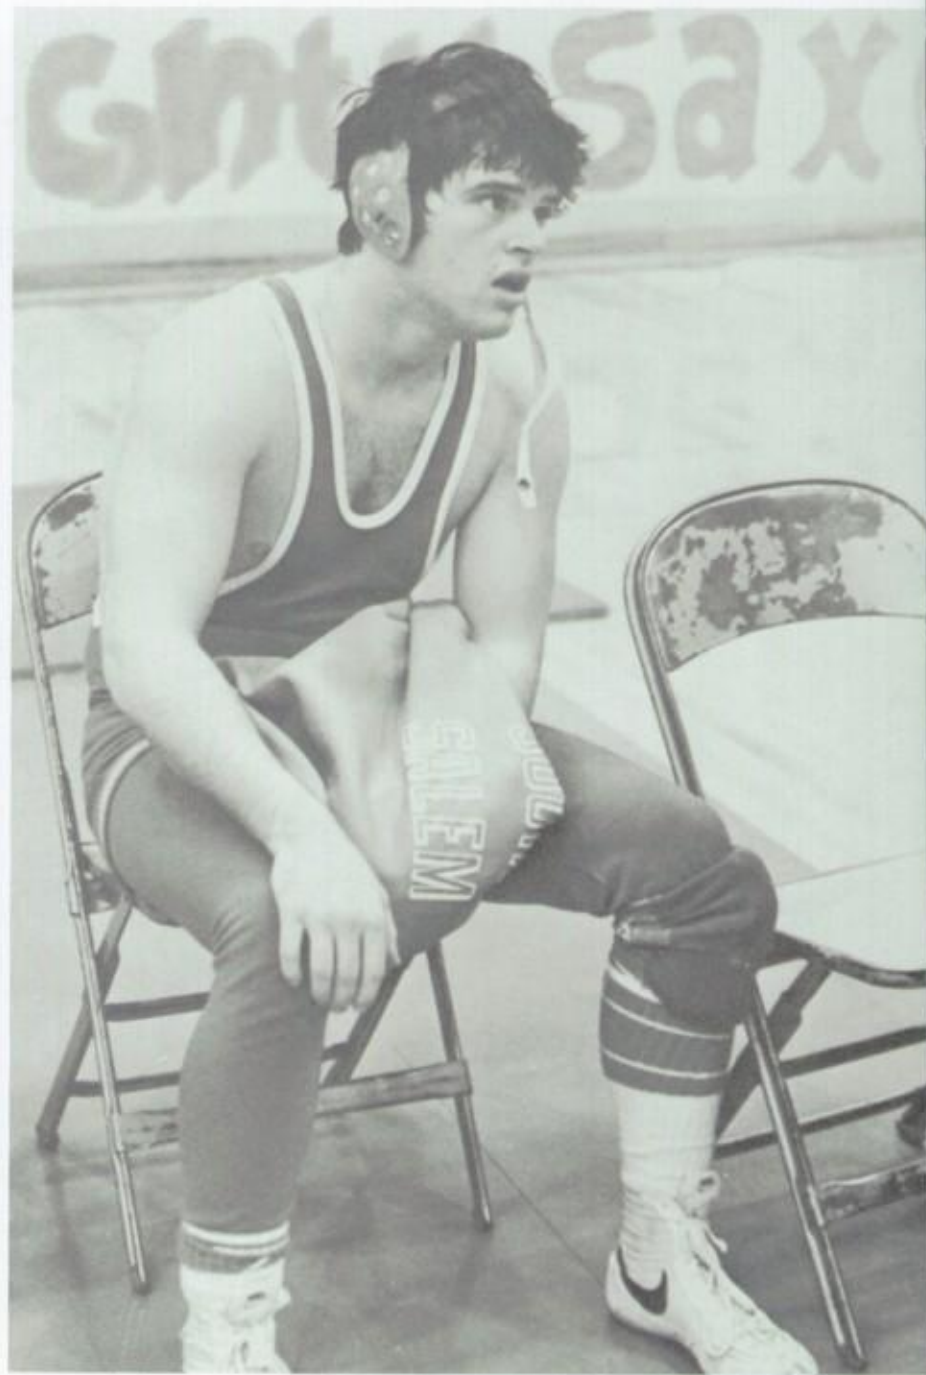

With seniors leading the way, the wrestling team compiled a season record of 14-9. Senior standouts were: Pat McLoud, Jeff Peter, Bill Swigart, Chris Accaregui, Steve Fisher, Kelly Hughes, Toby Wiltse, Todd Phillips, and Dave Stanley.

Five Saxon werestlers placed at district. Kelly Hughes placed second and qualified for state, Toby Wiltse and Pat McLoud placed third, Dave Stanley placed fourth, and Todd Phillips came in fifth. In tournament action every senior won an individual championship in at least one tournament. The J.V. team (as a group) won all their tournaments.

Strong competitors from the J.V.'s, some of whom, also wrestled varsity, included: Carlos Cardoso, Greg Gossack, Wes Canaga, Rich Mann, Mike Williams, Drew Smetana, Vince Castronovo, Eric Cardwell, Randy Brammer, Van Byerly, John Blevins, Mark Nuss, Stuart Gettis, Sean Welsh, Mike Carey, and John Sturgeon. Also on the team were three freshmen: Nat Goforth, Chris Johnson, and Brad French. Coach Larry Hayward commented, "If these younger kids come along next year we will have another good team."

Practice for the wrestlers was after school four days a week. Helping Mr. Hayward were Mr. Dave Johnson and Mr. Terry Fischer.

Mr. Hayward remarked, "The total season was very successful. In my three years of coaching this was one of the best groups to work with."

Saxons journey to the tourney . . .

Question: What has 66 wheels, 968 legs and screams real loud?

Answer: Over 400 Saxon basketball fans following their favorite team (on eleven buses) to the State AAA Basketball Tournament in Portland, Oregon.

With 22 wins, 0 losses and a district championship in their pocket, the Varsity Basketball team travelled to their first tournament in eight years! By compiling a record of three wins and one loss (at the tourney) the team was able to dribble away with the 4th place trophy!

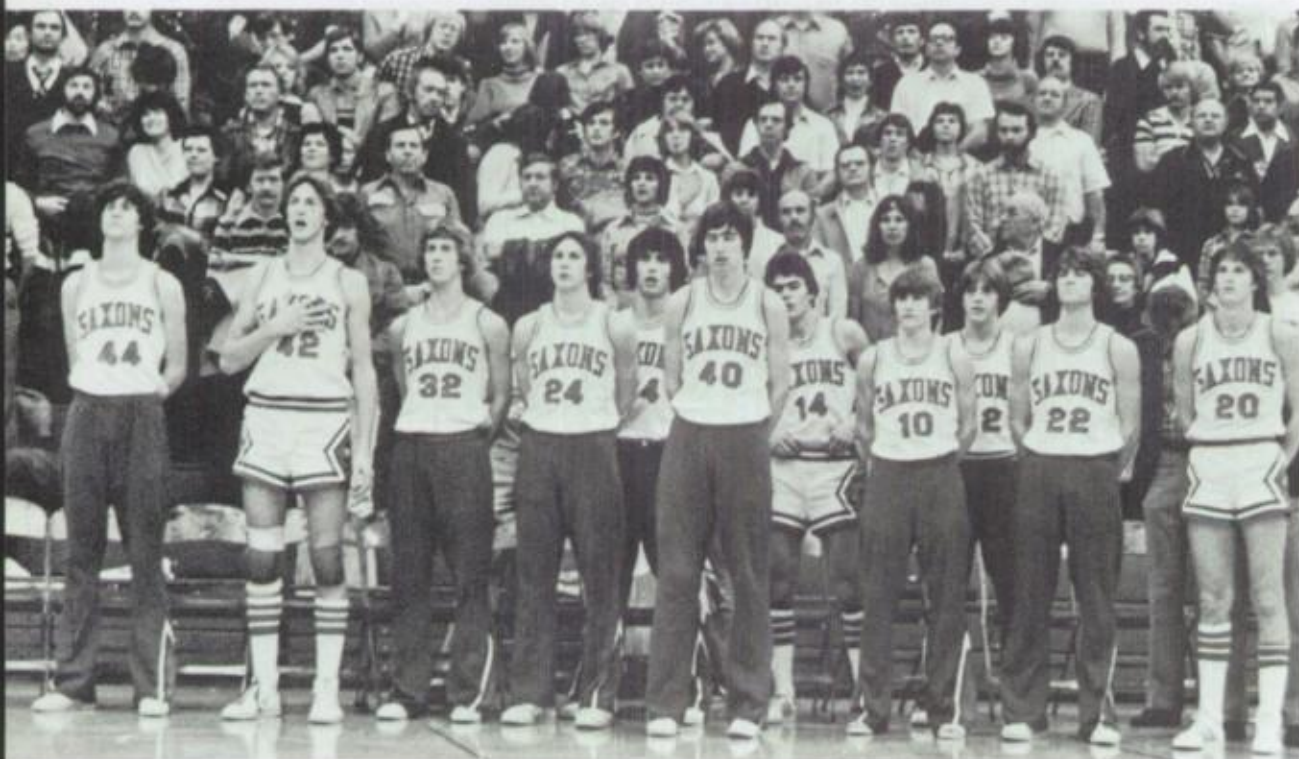

In the first round of the tournament, the team handled the Redmond Panthers with ease. A final score of 68-49 was the result. Optimism and hopes for first place were short-lived, however, as the Saxons lost their second game to Churchill by a 51-40 margin. Coming back strongly though, South crushed David Douglas (73-43) and pulled out a squeaker against Corvallis (52-48).

Other tournament highlights included the selection of Paul Von Ruden to the second all-tourney team, Keith Stoller placing 9th in the scoring category, and the Saxon fans earning the first place sportsmanship award (the first school ever to win this award three times).

Experience and depth were the keys to the success of the team. With ten seniors and two juniors on the team, the season promised to be a good one. Junior center, Matt Johnson, led the team in both the scoring (14.5 ppg) and rebounding departments (8 rpg). The small men also played important roles throughout the season. Tim Bright snatched the ball away 34 times while his teammate, Chris Clemens, sparked the offense with 3.4 assists a game. Also instrumental to the team's success was the strong Saxon bench.

J.V.s Prepare for Varsity

"The goal of JV level basketball is to build skills and abilities for Varsity ball," commented JV Coach Bob Shields. "Everybody that was on the team improved." Among those cited as being most improved included sophomores Mike Wolfington, Brian Wilbur, Stuart Kitzmiller, and Jon Ballantyne. Jon finished up the season with 152 points, giving him an average of 11 points per game. Mike Wolfington had the second highest point total, ending up with 145 points. The leading rebounder for the JVs was Junior Steve Fetrow, who pulled down an average of 6.6 rebounds per game.

The JV's finished the season with a 14-8 win-loss record. The last game of the season, against West Albany, was the team's best game. According to Coach Shields, "... it was a unified team effort. The whole team participated in the victory."

Girls qualify for state playoffs

Finishing third in the district, the girls' basketball team beat McNary and North Salem to earn a spot in the state tournament. With the double elimination rule, the Saxons were out of the tournament after losing two of three games.

Regular season play was better for the girls. Valley league leading scorer Susan Sanders helped the Saxons to a 15-7 overall record and a 12-4 record in league play. Susan averaged 18 points per game and led the team in blocked shots and rebounds.

Starters for the team were: Kim Cantonwine, Kelly McGhehey, Jeanette Youngman, Susan Sanders, and Lynn Eaton. Despite the many injuries which the girls encountered, strong substitutes were able to maintain highly competitive play. The sophomores came along also and played well for their experience level.

Practice for the girls was four days a week, two hours per day. Coach Lou DeLoretto led the strenuous practice sessions.

One of the highlights of the season was the Saxons win over the Crescent Valley Raiders. The Raiders had previously been undefeated for 39 straight games.

Sophomores Rely On Good Defense

Relying on defensive skills, the Sophomore basketball team produced an eight win and eight loss league record. With a good defensive effort on the part of Troy Chubb and Sheridan Lehman, the Sophomores ended the season with a 12-8 overall record.

Coach of the Sophomores, Mr. Gary Snow, commented that the team had improved greatly by the end of the year. Competitiveness and intensive play were just a few of the factors which helped the team win.

Sheridan Lehman, leading scorer and best all-around player, was able to generate an offense for the Sophomores. Most improved player, Chris Simmons, added his height as an asset to the team also.

Seniors lead team . . .

Getting off to a slow start, the Varsity Baseball team had trouble finding a pitcher to match the talented starting fielders. When seniors Jean Savard and Paul VonRuden began using their pitching abilities, the Saxons soon proved to be one of the best teams in the league.

Leading the team in hitting were seniors Alan Haugen (.466), Jean Savard (.327), and Junior Kevin Stewart (.327). Haugen had the second highest batting average in the league.

The team finished 3rd in the league, with an 8-6 win-loss record, giving them an opportunity to play for a state berth. Losing to 4th place McNary, the Saxons also lost their chance for state.

Selected for 1st team All-League and nominated for the State All-Star team, was shortstop Alan Haugen. Chosen for 2nd team All-League were Jean Savard (pitcher), Dave Bigej (right field), Howard Hines (third base), and Kevin Stewart (left field). Paul VonRuden, John Bennet, Rick Kowalski and Chris Clemmens received Honorable Mention.

Coach Mike Doran felt, "We proved we were #1 in the league by winning our last eight straight games the 2nd half of the season."

Saxons send five players to All-league teams

A

Having an outstanding season, the varsity softball team placed first at district and then, disappointingly, lost the first state game to Oregon City, with a score of 2-1.

The team voted Senior Lynn Eaton as Outstanding Player. She was pitcher and produced only one error all season. Most Improved Player went to Junior Lynn Sellers, an outfielder. All-League selections included: Lynn Eaton (pitcher) and Junior Tina Ordonez (outfield) on the first team; and Junior Jessica Stradtman (infield), Junior Jan Wetherbee (infield), and Sophomore Lisa Wipf (catcher) on the second team. Coach Perkins, a two-year veteran coach of the team, was hopeful for a strong team again for the next season.

J.V. Softballers learn strategy and develop skills

Winning their last four games, the girls' J.V. Softball team finished on a strong note. Playing just 11 games, the team ended up with a 6-5 win-loss record. Kathy Krick helped the effort with a batting average of .588, the highest on the team and the most extra base hits (Seven, including two homeruns). The team as a whole ended with no one having less than a .333 batting average.

Coach Terry McLaughlin stated, "The main thing about a J.V. team is that you get a lot of players who have never played before. In the beginning they're weak, but by the end of the season they know the strategy of the game and develop their individual skills." The weakest area, he also felt, was their inexperience.

Pitching boosts J.V.s

Finishing second in league play, the J.V. Baseball team sported a record of 11-5. Relying on pitching, Coach Terry Haugen had this to say about his team, "We had excellent pitching. That's what kept us in most of the games." Some of the main pitchers for the team were Steve Bigej (8 wins-1 loss record), Jim Smithey (1-1 and 5 saves), Russ Huewe (4-3), and Tim Bowman (3-0 and 2 saves). As a team, the J.V.s' earn run average was 2.74, giving up less than 3 runs a game!

Depending not only on the pitchers, the team scored 98 runs during the season and had a batting average of .310. Batting leader for the team was Russ Huewe with a .500 average. Dan Whitehead, Randy Kautz, Greg Sherwood, Keith Cotton, and Jim Smithey all helped the team by having a better than .325 batting average.

Depth leads to 2nd place

Exhibiting extreme depth, the Boys' Tennis Team nabbed a 2nd place finish in the district tournament. Outstanding individuals of the tournament included Dan Iverson (Consolation Champion), and Jim McBride (3rd place). Matt Burr and Eric Swenson also combined their talents to form the 2nd place doubles team.

Traveling to state with a strong district finish behind them, the team was able to tie for 6th place in state. Jim McBride lost a tough match to the 4th seed in the state (6-3, 6-4), while the doubles team (Burr and Swenson) took 2nd in the doubles consolation bracket.

Coach John Nagle commented that depth and good team morale were the two main factors which led to the team's impressive season record of 11 wins and 5 losses.

Girls tie for district championship

Two factors which highly contributed to a district championship tie with Sprague were the coaches of the Girls' Tennis Team. "I felt the coaches were really good . . . they related to the players on and off the court," commented Cindy Williams. David Eads and Brenda Graves, student teachers from OCE, were able to counsel the team to a superb season record of 11 wins, one loss, and one tie.

Doubles team Joanne Chamberlain and Marcy Cline captured a first place district championship, while their singles teammates also excelled. Cindy Williams snatched a third place victory and Tracy Knott claimed a notable 6th place.

Although Chamberlain and Cline were seeded second in state, they lost their championship hopes in the quarterfinal round to Beaverton. Cindy Williams also dropped a tough match to Sacha Verloet of Beaverton in the quarterfinal round. Even with these outcomes Coach Eads was pleased and commented that, "State was kind of like icing."

Young team retains district championship

Driving, chipping, and putting their way to an eight and zero win-loss record was the Boys' Golf Team. With this spotless league outcome, and an excellent district tournament showing, the team accumulated enough points to snag the district championship. Senior John Cushing led the Saxons with a 2nd place victory out of the entire field of golfers.

Although Coach Ray Anderson's goal was to have a state champion (or runner-up) team, he had to settle for a 6th place state finish. Todd Eschelman shot a 36-hole round of 150 to lead the state golfers to this impressive ranking.

Other season highlights included first place victories in both the Stayton Invitational and the Tualatin Tournament.

Five golfers pooled their talents to obtain second place at the state golf tournament, and according to Coach Joan Forster, "It was definitely a pleasant surprise." One of these five fine golfers was the district and state medalist, Susan Sanders.

Shooting rounds of 83 (18 holes) and 155 (36 holes), Sanders provided a strong foundation for the team's success at both the district and state matches. Kim Cantonwine, a junior, tied for 4th place at district and proved herself to be the 6th best golfer in the state.

Schaecher hurdles to first place at state

Overall, all three Saxon track teams had winning records. The J.V. boys were 6-0, the varsity boys ended up 6-4, and the varsity girls finished with a record of 7-1.

Pat Kittle and Debbie Knytych were outstanding in the distance events while Laurie Schaecher, Elpidio Bumanlag, David Henkle, Rick Suydam, Sam Kribs, and Bob Barrie were some of the best sprinters.

At the district meet, Pat Kittle placed second in the 800, Debbie Knytych placed second in the 400, Laurie Schaecher placed first in both the 100 meter high and low hurdles, and the boys' varsity relay team (Rick Suydam, David Henkle, Bob Barrie, Elpidio Bumanlag) placed first.

Laurie Schaecher set a new school record and captured first place in the state in the 100 meter high hurdles. She also was third in the state in the 100 meter low hurdles.

Coaches for the distance team were Mr. Ron Cross and Mr. Jim Grant. Mr. Marks worked with the sprinters.

Weather hinders jumping performances

The field teams had a good year; the weight team had an outstanding member, Sophomore Greg Miles, who threw the javelin 181 feet 11 inches to capture fifth in district. The outstanding girl of South's weight team was Denise Buntjer. Denise placed second at district in the javelin with a heave of 129 feet 8 inches. Coach Grayum of the weight team also added that the most improved boy of the season was Drew Smetana. Drew averaged 41 feet 8 inches in the shot put and 117 feet for the discus.

"We're hoping for better weather for the next year," were the words of Mr. Dennis Palmer (Jumping Coach) at the end of the season. But even with the bad weather, the jumping team fared well. According to Coach Palmer, John Chester was an individual which offered his skills in both the high jump and the triple jump. Bruce Kropp and Julie Kitzmiller showed extreme improvement throughout the year.

The Jumping Team performed well at the district meet with Judy Sommer placing third in the high jump and Sophomore Craig Stahr placing eighth in the high jump. David Henkel leaped to a fourth place finish with a jump of 20 feet 2 1/2 inches in the long jump.

Founded in 1977 by Michele Mogle, the Photography Club experienced another year of fundraising, noon meetings, and picture-taking field trips. The club was open to anyone interested in photography and having a desire to practice their personal picture-taking.

Selling buttons, candy bars, and suckers, the club raised about $250 throughout the year. A dinner/meeting (to the Black Angus) and a trip to the Oregon Coast were the two main activities which exhausted the club's funds.

Seven members and an advisor (Mr. Bob McElroy) made up the club. Michele Mogle acted as Club Chairperson for the year.

travels to Bay City

Experiencing its second year of existence was the South High Architecture Club (SHAC). The fifteen-member club spent the majority of the year raising funds and indulging in mini field trips.

A trip to San Francisco was the club's main highlight of the year. To raise money for this expensive endeavor, the club (1) held a carwash and (2) sold millions (well . . . almost) of Tootsie Roll Pops to junk food addicts. A total of $250 was raised to help subsidize the gas and lodging expenses.

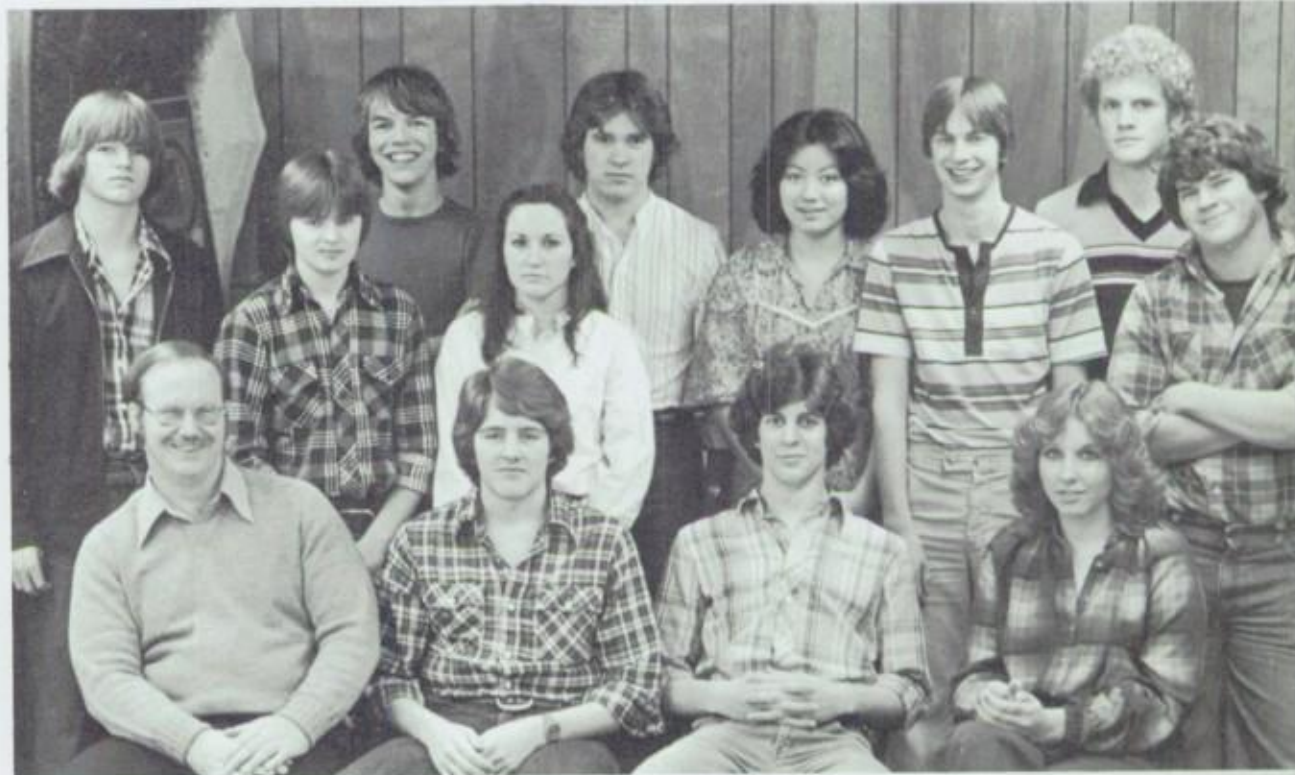

Other field trips included local visits as well as short excursions to Eugene (U of O) and Portland.

South Chapter expands

Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) Club's main purpose was to better prepare students interested in business for business occupations.

FBLA, a nationwide organization, consisted of 6,000 chapters, Oregon having 62 of those. The three year national goal was to create better understanding of the free enterprise system in the country. Each chapter was responsible for a project to help complete this goal.

Any student enrolled in a business class was qualified to be a member of FBLA. A decreased number of active members helped to make a fairly inactive club this year.

South's chapter installed a Cascade High chapter earlier in the fall, toured businesses in Portland, and had money raising projects. They also went to district, state, and national skills competitions where individuals competed for places in their areas of specialization.

Officers of the club were Mary Herrle, President; Teri Lannigan, Vice-President; Cindy Roy, Secretary; Cheryl Bertelson, Treasurer; and Shirley Williams, Publicity Director. Two of the officers, Teri and Mary, were also state officers.

Math Club

not a social club

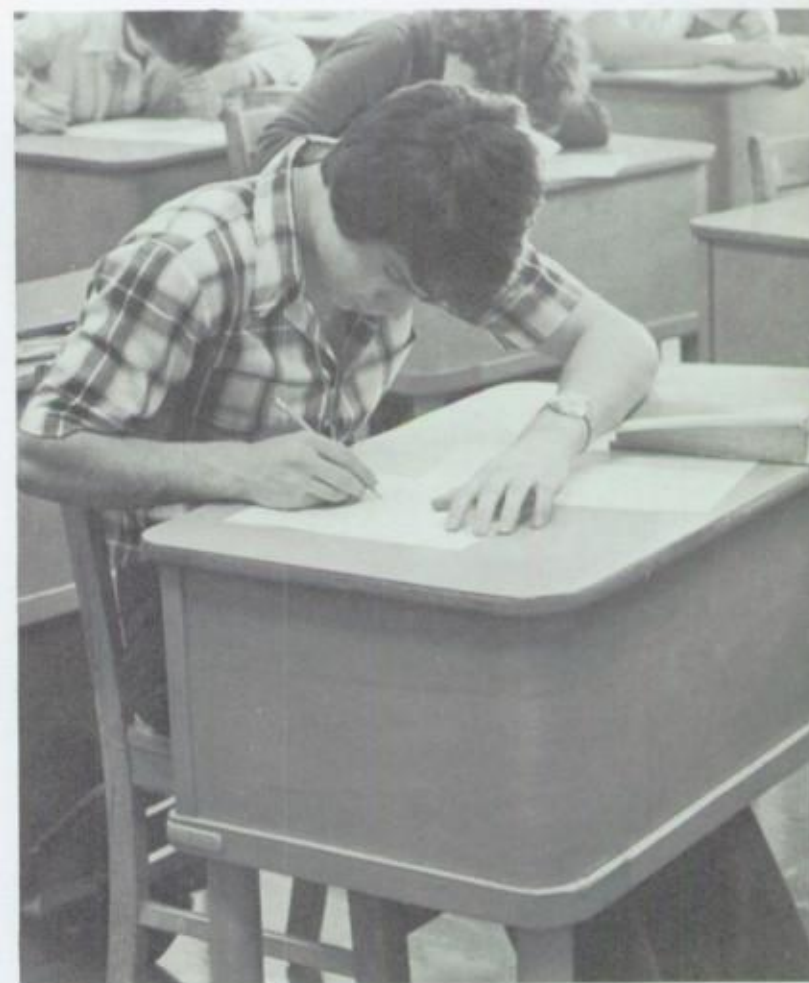

Math Club was a participation activities club which took its members from people willing to spend extra time on their own to improve their skills in the area of mathematics. This was, in fact, the main goal of the Math Club, and membership was easily obtained by signing up.

There were approximately 200 honorary members who participated in math improvement type activities such as practice tests, after-school tests, and problem solving seminars provided by the faculty.

Math students who showed outstanding achievement were presented with awards at the Senior Banquet, which took place in May.

Rally Says "This is the Saxon Year"

"Superstars!" That was the rally's description of the saxons. The rally cheered the Saxon athletic teams on to many victories with the varsity football team nearly making state playoffs, the boys swim team taking first in district and tenth in state, and the undefeated varsity boys' basketball team taking fourth in State.

Along with supporting all athletic events, the rally promoted spirit through pep assemblies and organizing rowdy buses. They also carried out the usual rally duties of selecting a sweetheart for home basketball and football games, painting signs, and decorating the gym and lockers.

During the summer the rally practiced three days a week preparing routines. During the fall, after school practices and a class period were used to perfect these routines. For money raising projects, the rally worked at Reuter's Hill Winery labeling bottles.

J.V. Rally gets rowdy

Who were five girls who had a three word title with a total of eighteen letters, who promoted spirit at pep assemblies, meets, and all kinds of events? If you're saying to yourself "That must be the Junior Varsity Rally," you're right.

The J.V. Rally went to all the J.V. games and, along with the Varsity Rally, supported the Varsity teams. They also went to ice cream feeds and made all their own locker and wall signs.

Saxonetts dance and drill

If you heard the theme from the movie "Rocky", or "Swanee River," you were probably watching the Saxonetts perform. Those were just two of the songs they performed Dance and Drill routines to.

Saxonetts put in many long hours of practice. They were on the gym floor at 7 o'clock in the morning ready to practice, and out on the football field at 7 at night to perfect their moves with the band. They also spent time checking their make-up under the lights, so that everything looked just right when they performed at the football games, basketball games and other performances they had during the year.

Some of their most exciting experiences were placing second in the Stayton Dance and Drill competition, and performing at the Memorial Coliseum, when the boy's varsity basketball team went to state playoffs.

They performed in a total of four competitions during the year: the Stayton competition, the Rex Putman competition, the Clackamas Dance and Drill competition, and the state competition held at South.

The team had help with their routines from Barb Phillips, their choreographer. She came for the first period of each day when the Saxonetts met as a class, and she attended all the competitions and other practices.

Being on drill team, however was not always all work and no play. A Christmas party was held along with various other activities throughout the year, including having Secret Angels, like Secret Pals, who brought them goodies and other things before performances.

Art Club has crafty members

Art Club was alive and well as the members participated in various projects such as painting windows at the Oregon Bank, Mr. Steak, the Reed Opera House, and having an art sale at Christmas. Portions of the money they earned from such projects went to a $120 scholarship. This scholarship went to one member to help further his/her art training.

Besides having two business meetings a month, the Art Club was involved in a wide range of activities, from going to see the King Tut exhibit in Seattle to taking a tour through some of Portland's Art Galleries.

In appreciation for the members' hard work, the advisors provided a banquet for all Art Club members at Christmastime. The club had existed for four years and since its beginning, membership had grown from 8 to 25 active members.

Concert choir is Northwest champ

South Salem had developed quite a reputation for having an outstanding music department, and the 1978-79 Concert Choir upheld that reputation when it won the Best in the Northwest competition held at the University of Portland. The choir also took part in the first Annual Salem Invitational Concert Choir Festival and captured first place. After winning the invitational festival in Seattle, Washington, Mr. Mike Crawford said, "This is the most active Concert Choir since I've been here." He also said, "It's not always how many festivals you win or what place you get, you judge the group by how much it's progressed since the beginning of the year."

Southernaires spell success: "Sing."

The Southernaires performed much throughout the year. They placed second in the AAA Optimist Festival at OCE, were invited to the Edmonds Community College Jazz Festival in Edmonds, Washington, and performed in the Mount Hood Jazz Festival after a four day tour. The Mount Hood Jazz Festival was the biggest festival in the nation on the high school level. Mr. Mike Crawford, director of the Southernaires, had to say, "This group has seen much improvement since the beginning of the year." He was also quoted as saying, "This is the best Southernaires group I've ever had."

Saxon Singers "best ever"

Superior and superior minus were the ratings that the Saxon Choir received at the District IV Choral Contest. The Saxon Choir, more commonly known as Girls' Choir, was Mr. Crawford's "best girls' group ever." He expressed much pride in their ability to sing complicated pieces and to sing them well. The Saxon Choir's musical ability enabled them to score higher at the Choral Contest than any of Mr. Crawford's previous girls' groups.

Saxon Singers combine talent and pride

Many people wouldn't have recognized this group, as it had grown from four to 55 members in four short years. Mr. Crawford had nothing but praise for the Saxon Singers. One of their main assets, in his opinion, was their ability to sing more musically than any other men's group he'd ever had. Another thing that helped the Singers was their "pride of group." A combination of these two qualities undoubtedly attributed to their success at the District IV Choral contest; they received ratings of Superior and Excellent Plus.

Concert Band outstanding

Can you guess what group was "outstanding"? Why, the concert band, of course! Their many fine performances and #1 ratings proved it to be true, and Mr. Becker, the band director, believed it also.

The 55 member band performed at the Christmas, Winter, and Spring concerts as well as the District Festival where they received #1 ratings. They performed at the home football games combined with the Saxon Band, and marched at the O.S.U. band festival. They were involved in many concerts and festivals and practiced many hours to perfect their music.

There were many outstanding students who received honors throughout the year. Selected for All-Northwest Band were Dave Benson and Cheryl Foster. Matt Brand, Mike Martin, and Cheryl Foster were selected for the All State Honor Band, and participating in the State Solo Contest were Matt Brand, Andre Hagestadt, and Cheryl Foster. During Spring, Mike Martin and Jeff Hilts were selected to play in the "Music In May" band, and Dave Benson and Matt Brand were chosen to play in the "Music in May" orchestra. Deserving recognition throughout the year were the officers; Matt Brand, President, Mike Martin, Drum Major, Dave Benson, Pep Band Leader, and Jeff Hilts, Properties Manager.

Stage band goes festival-happy

Excellent! Superior! Excellent! These were some of the ratings the Stage Band received at their competitions. The Stage Band was a select group of twenty-one students from the Concert Band. The band included many outstanding musicians, which resulted in one of the best stage bands that South had ever had.

Besides winning the Central Oregon Jazz Festival in Bend, the Salem Jazz Festival, and the New Minster Jazz Festival in British Columbia, the band competed in other festivals, which included Clackamas and Portland. The group went on a five day tour in Seattle and Canada. They also performed in various places around Salem.

South students were able to hear this outstanding group at South's concerts and also at the many noon concerts performed by the band in center hall.

The beat goes on

Mr. Becker directed South High's forty member Symphonic Orchestra. The String Orchestra contained 14 members who met on a daily basis while the Win Section met occasionally on their lunch hour.

The Symphonic Orchestra played at the Fall Concert, Christmas Concert, and the final Spring Concert. The biggest number they did was the spectacular "Star Wars" done at the Fall Concert.

The String Orchestra also participated in the Winter Instrumental Concert, the Willamette Valley String Festival, the Area String Festival, the Eric Hamber Exchange Concert, and the final Spring Concert.

Outstanding students from Orchestra were: Dave Werner, Jodi Wolfer, and Shelley Andrews. Dave Werner won the National School Orchestra Association Orchestra Award.

The 1978-79 Speech Team set new standards for excellence in the area of Speech. The number of team members increased from fifteen to over thirty during the year and the success of the team also increased. After a slow start, the team got on track, winning several sweepstakes, trophies, and numerous individual and team debate awards. The strength of the team was well balanced between debate and individual event participants. The Senior members of the team led the way, placing consistently in debate, extemporaneous speaking, and interpretation. The Junior members proved to be among the strongest teams in the state in Oratory, After Dinner Speaking, Debate, Expository Speaking and interpretation.

Thirteen members of the team and three debate teams qualified for State by winning district by a wide margin. At the State Tournament Dan Cohen placed second in After Dinner Speaking, Joni Whitmore placed third in Serious Dramatic. Joni Whitmore and Mark Tone were finalists in Oratory and Humorous Dramatic, respectively, and all the members of the State team were Semi-finalists.

Brad Volk qualified for the National Tournament in Cincinnati by being selected Outstanding Speaker in the House of Representatives. Brad continued South's success record by being the third representative to Nationals in three years.

Dramatic clubs leave their mark

"I've found that being President of Thespians took more work than I thought it would. It's a constant job because there's always something going on." That was Scott Haring's reply to a typical question regarding his job. He reported hard work on the part of the officers to make the year a good one.

Thespians had a total of approximately 25-30 members who all earned their initiation into the club by having at least ten Thespian points. One point was equal to ten hours of work on or off the stage.

Sponsoring all drama and art events was mainly what the Thespians were all about. There were also extra things, one of which was a "Santa's Breakfast" at Meier & Frank. After a breakfast in the Oregon Room restaurant, Thespians entertained young children (as well as their mothers!) with a Christmas skit.

A big highlight of the year was the Thespians' trip to New York. A week in December was spent in New York in order to receive a "cultural experience," as Mrs. Quanbeck put it.

Another big event of the year was the state Thespian conference. It was held here and hosted by the South Salem troupe, which was considered to be an honor. Actors and actresses came and worked with the students. Workshops, performances, and a last night dance were all a part of that weekend.

Another dramatic group, the Silent Mimority, relative to past years, was small. The only active members were Lajuana Chrisman and Bruce Anders. Auditions to enlarge the group were held in March.

Language clubs go culture crazy

The theme for the French, German and Spanish Clubs was "Culture." Some of their activities included: preparing and tasting foreign foods, a trilingual carolling party, the sponsoring of an exchange student, and scrabble tournaments. Each of these helped to broaden the students' understanding of the world.

Foreigners invade during A.F.S. week

"It was the biggest AFS week I've heard of . . ." commented American Field Service President Debbie Noteboom. For 3 days, South played host to 37 foreign exchange students from all over Oregon. The week's activities included a banana split party attended by 70 people, a slave auction, a bake sale, a national costume day, and a slide show by Cristina Tehran from Uruguay. Also, a dance was held for all the visiting students.

The money earned from AFS week and from various other fundraising activities was added to $300 donated by the ASB. This money was divided among South's three students going abroad. John Barlow, Dan Gossack, and Debbie Noteboom each received $250. Since the adult club of AFS did not function as in previous years, fundraising was left completely up to students. Debbie commented that "a really good job of raising money was done, as we provided each student with an awful lot more than last year."

Exchange Students: different cultures represented

Rotary and AFS were two exchange programs that brought students to South this year. Rotary Club's Alison Fisher from South Africa lived with Ruth Ann Barrett's family until departing for home in January. Alison enjoyed yelling at football games, going to Young Life, and eating American food. Fernando Cezar from San Paulo, Brazil, lived with the John Kerr family. He enjoyed playing soccer.

American Field Service brought three exchange students to South. Metra Fatemah from Iran stayed in the U.S. only a short while. She went home because of the political situation in her country. Cristina Tehran from Uruguay lived with the Hal Washburn family. Jutta Zorb attended South during the latter part of the year. Coming from Germany, she lived in Salem with Ellen Prichard's family.

The "Sons of Norway" exchange program brought Sigurd Winge-Thorby to Salem. Sigurd lived with the Bruce Kerr family and swam on the swim team with the other Kerr kids.

Besides bringing students from other countries in, Rotary, and AFS sent American students abroad. Debbie Lantz went to spend a year in South Africa. John Barlow left on AFS in March for Thailand. Both Debbie Noteboom and Dan Gossack were accepted by AFS but neither had been notified of their country at the time of this publication.

This year the ASB committees were changed in one area. After the committee chairpersons and members were elected, they were allowed, as a committee, to appoint additional members out of those who ran but were not elected to the committee. This was put into effect by ASB President Chris Acarregui in order to involve a greater percentage of students in the student council.

The eight Associated Student Body committees consisted of Activities, Building and Grounds, Constitution Revision, Curriculum, Election and Rules, Finance and Fund Raising, Liaison, and Welfare and Publicity.

The Activities Committee saw to such things as Homecoming and Spirit Week festivities, after game dances, activity periods, and extended lunches.

Tori Peters was in charge of the Building and Grounds Committee which was very active. This committee fixed the fountain (after its rather long vacation!), got wooden plaques hung in the gym of the emblems of the Valley League high schools, and bought and hung a flag in center hall. Among other projects, they also worked hard at picking up litter to help the open lunch program survive.

The Constitution Revision Committee was kept busy updating and rewriting the school constitution to suit the current needs of the students. Karl Hafferkamp headed this committee.

Committees make progress

Mark Lambert and his Curriculum Committee heard complaints and took recommendations from students about scheduling of classes, career education credit, and the changing of certain classes as electives.

The Election and Rules Committee worked hard at conducting student body elections and reported fairly good voter turn outs throughout the year.

Finance and Fund Raising Committee, under the leadership of Debbie Carlson, had the responsibility of raising money for the entire ASB fund. Fund raising projects included dances, car washes, and food sales.

The major duty of the Liaison Committee was to elect monthly Rotarians and Optimists under the designated titles sent to the school periodically. This committee also did extensive work during the summer dealing with the renewal of South's open lunch program and the passage of the school budget.

Welfare and Publicity nominated students of the month (with the help of a few teachers), and conducted voting for this. They also publicized, on request, special activities and committee meetings.

Senior, Junior, and Sophomore committees were also added, mainly to plan separate class activities throughout the year.

A grade point overage of 3.4, maybe as an exception 3.2, would get you into the National Honor Society. This was a club organized to recognize quality achievement in Juniors and Seniors. One of the activities they participated in was acting as guides for the school's Open House. The high point of the year, for this club, was the selection of the new members and the ceremony to bring those new members into National Honor Society. Once these people made it into National Honor Society, unless their grade point average fell below the standard, they were in it until they graduated. National Honor Society members wore gold tassels, a distinguished honor for the members, at the graduation ceremonies.

Clypian staff looks for award-winning paper

"An award winning paper is what we're really working for," said Mrs. Audry Felling, new Clypian Advisor. Karri Neitzel, Clypian Editor agreed.

Darcy Wenz, Assistant Editor of the Clypian said, "We have a hard working staff, but many improvements are still needed." Lori Bogdan, Carolyn Cox, Mashal McReal, and Doug Thompson all agreed that the staff got off to a rough start since there were so many new people on the staff.

Goals for the Clypian staff were to produce an award winning paper, introduce student newspaper rights, introduce new articles, use more photos, and be more responsible for meeting deadlines.

Riley Woodford said, "I think this staff is terrific. It's a good experience and helps me to know what working on a real newspaper would be like."

“Celebrate” On It’s Way

Deadlines! Deadlines! Deadlines! Deadlines were one of the hardest elements in yearbook. At the beginning of the year, Editor-in-Chief Nila Morrow worked hard to teach the new staff all the essentials of laying out pages, writing copy, and meeting deadlines. The staff had a slow start, but was soon acquainted with assigned duties.

The staff members were “hand-picked” for their positions, as Mr. Dean Barr, advisor, stated at the beginning of the year. The editors and staff worked hard, proving to be just that: “hand-picked.” Working for Nila were: Michelle Privratsky, Assistant Editor; Peggy Snyder, Activities Editor; Tim King, Sports Editor; John Honey, Business Editor; and Cathy Heald, Photo Editor. New staff members at the semester were Gloria Saucy and Tom Jessup. The photography staff consisted of: Donna Stewart, Michele Mogle, Jon Bouffleur, Jay Delapp, Ken Jantzen, Chris Hare, and Mike Swindell. Their advisor was Mr. Bob McElroy.

Even though there were some rough times, the staff had plenty of fun and everyone worked well together.

Greenpeace get support

Greenpeace-South was an organization established in 1976 by Edye Brown, president. Their main goal was to make the student body aware of environmental problems. Edye worked for three years with Greenpeace and finally got involvement from South's students. They had many fundraising projects including bake sales, a South-ernaires concert, merchandise sales, and a recycling program for paper, magazines, and bottles. Most of the profit from fundraising went to various organizations in the community, who aided them in their cause.

In December they attended the 1st Annual Greenpeace Whale Watch. Then, in February, they had a "Save the Seals" skate-a-thon to raise money to go the 1979 Seal Campaign. The advisors, Mr. Rob Huddleston and Mr. Dennis Palmer, helped out in many ways, as did Erika Wolfe, who devoted much time and effort.

Edye, who was very pleased with the results of the involvement at South, stated, "To become aware of what is happening to the environment is terribly important. If we don't, the result will be one sad, irreversible mistake."

"Chansons," a select girls ensemble choir, was formed at the beginning of the year by Mr. Michael Crawford. The girls involved spent two nights a week practicing, as the choir wasn't offered as a class in the school curriculum.

The Pep Band performed at home football games, basketball games, pep assemblies, and at the State basketball tournament. This was a voluntary band directed by student director Dave Benson.

Health Occupations was a group of students who were advanced in the area of health as a career. A few of their activities included organizing and helping run the Red Cross Blood Drive, and staging a mock bus accident to test bus drivers and Willamette Paramedics.

The Quill and Scroll National Honor Society of Journalism started a chapter at South towards the end of the year, with Mr. Dean Barr as advisor. This was a program involving outstanding students in journalism.

Fads & fashions - now & then

Narrowed pant legs, blousy tops, and the comeback of dresses were drastic fashion changes seen. Bass, Baretraps, and Dexters still dominated the shoe population around the school. Candies also became very popular, as well as other high-heeled shoes. Some of the fashionable accessories included knotted scarves, double belts, clutch purses, ties, and colored bangles.

Jeans continued to be a wardrobe staple. Names like Britannia, San Francisco Riding Gear, Bear Bottoms, and Pentimento were prevalent in the jean world along with painter pants.

Following the trend of the girls wearing more dresses, the guys wore nicer pants such as Normandee and Cavalier and even went as far as wearing three-piece suits occasionally.

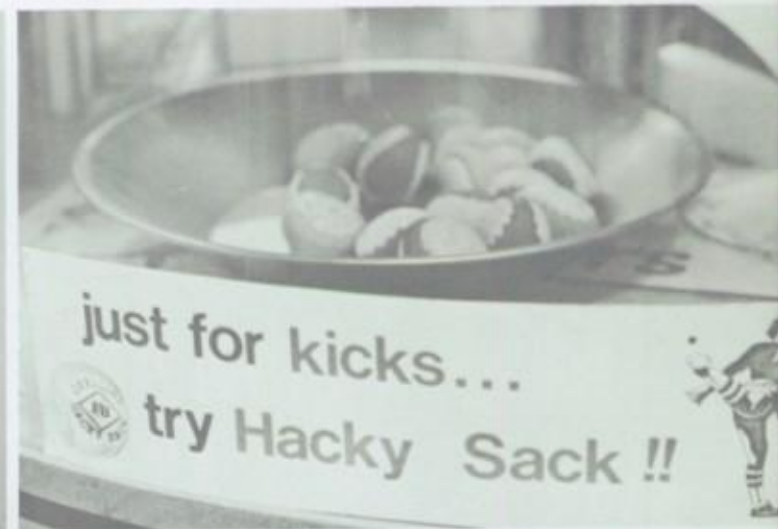

Some of the major concerts were Styx, Bad Company, George Benson, The Doobie Brothers, Jethro Tull, Boston, Queen, Moody Blues Alice, and Yes.

Movies ranged from the intense "Deer Hunter" to the rather lighthearted "Heaven Can Wait." "Superman" also came back into existence, it was said by many students to have little literary value.

Cruising the gut, despite the gas crunch, remained a favorite pastime for many people.

Disco stirred up excitement across the nation. Several Salem restaurants added lighted disco floors. The teenage disco place was The Old Mill Club.

Billy Beer, a fad which lasted only a few days, was a beer made for President Jimmy Carter's brother, Billy Carter, who was well known for his beer consumption.

Students lead busy lives off campus . . .

You know what South Salem High School Students did during school, but do you know what they did after school? They could be found in familiar scenes such as downtown, at work, on the gut, at church, eating, at concerts or movies, studying, dancing, or sporting out, only to name a few. Outside of school, there were numerous activities that students spent their time doing. Many of these were connected with school activities. Working seemed popular, especially with the seniors. Saving money for college or future years, and money for playing around were the main reasons for working. Keeping in shape and playing sports were also favorite activities.

New shopping centers, buildings, and parking structures were seen this year. The Reed Opera House added new shops, a shopping mall including a Nordstrom's store was in the process of being built, and a new parking structure was built near Penny's and Frederick & Nelson's.

Bush house celebrates

"In 1953, upon the death of Asahel Nesmith Bush III, the City of Salem acquired the Victorian home now called Bush House. The historic house museum, operated by the SAA, opened to the public on October 18, 1953. People stood in line on that Sunday afternoon waiting to see Salem's new museum and they were not disappointed. The Salem Art Association had purchased many of the original furnishings from the A. N. Bush estate so the house retained much of its original Victorian character. Now twenty-five years after being opened as a museum and one hundred years after being built, the house still exemplifies the combination of beauty and functionalism instilled in it by its builder, Asahel Bush II, who was first editor of the Oregon Statesman and later owner of the Ladd and Bush Bank."

"World of Disney" celebrates its 25th

© WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS

"'The Wonderful World of Disney' has lasted longer than some of its sponsors' products and is television's longest-running prime time series. To reach this historical TV landmark, the weekly anthology has aired nearly 1500 hours of shows on two networks, while surviving onslaughts from more than 50 competing programs.

Beginning on ABC-TV, October 27, 1954, as "Disneyland," the show became 'Walt Disney Presents' in 1958. In 1961 'Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color' debuted on NBC. It became 'The Wonderful World of Disney' in 1969.

Many of today's shows TV stars had some of their early roles in the Disney series. Among those who appeared on the show are: Ron Howard (Happy Days), Penny Marshall (Laverne and Shirley), John Ritter (Three's Company), Carroll O'Connor (All in the Family), Jaclyn Smith (Charlie's Angels), Harry Morgan (M*A*S*H*), Larry Wilcox (CHiPs), Buddy Ebsen (Barnaby Jones), James Garner (The Rockford Files), Suzanne Pleshette (The Bob Newhart Show), and Darren McGavin (Night Stalker)."

Spirit week full of enthusiasm

As students began filling the halls at the start of the week, they encountered a doorway reading, "Beware . . . you are entering senior territory." Upon entering the doorway, students found a world full of spirit and enthusiasm displayed by the creativity of the senior class. Mrs. Leah Smith, a twenty-five year veteran of South stated, "The hall has never been decorated as well." Every year, each class decorates a stairway, competing against the other classes. An exceptional job was done by all classes with seniors placing first, juniors receiving second, and sophomores coming in third.

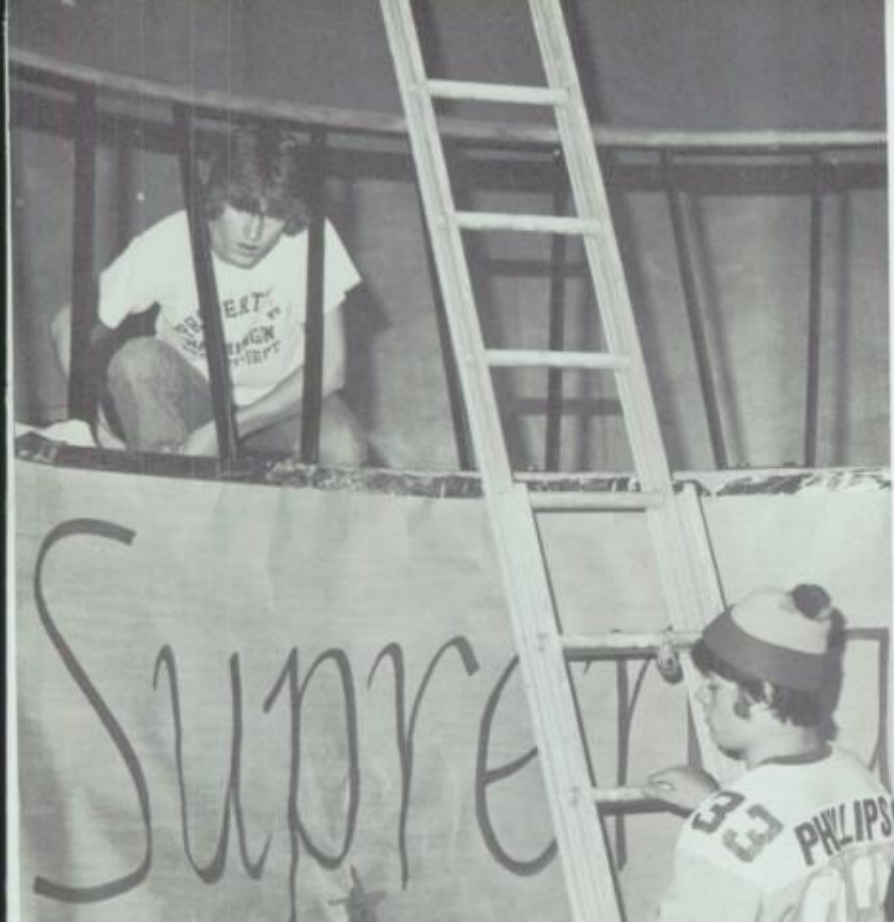

Each day was filled with high spirits as the week began with "jean and jersey" day. A slave auction was held at noon Tuesday, when students were sold to do whatever their masters wished. On Halloween, students roamed the halls disguised in masks, hats, and costumes. Following Halloween was "twin" day. Twins were in sight all over the school. Relay races were held at noon on the football field. Ending the week was "bo' in 'fro" day. Bows of all colors and shapes were seen in new hairstyles curled the previous night.

To celebrate the end of spirit week and the end of the first nine weeks of school was Homecoming, the finale of the football season.

"A Silver Homecoming" was the theme of the 25th Homecoming of South. Patiently waiting inside the library, the Homecoming Court watched the football game, wondering who would be crowned queen. To help lead the spirit, a "Homecoming rally" was formed consisting of five senior girls.

At half-time, the court was introduced on the football field. As Mr. Wes Ediger walked around the four senior princesses, suspense filled the air. Then, when all was silent, Joanne Chamberlain was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1978. The football team added their victory to the excitement of the night as they beat McNary, 14-11.

After the game, students headed for the Homecoming dance which was held in the east balcony. The decor of the dance was done in silver with the band "Cherry Ash" providing the music. The dance didn't end the night for most students, as many went out to pizza for a midnight snack or cruised to their favorite spots. Homecoming proved to be a special time for everyone involved.

U.G.N. Fares well

The United Good Neighbor fund-raising drive went extremely well, raising $340.25. It was a big improvement over the $90 collected the previous year. Leader Karl Hafercamp stated that he had enjoyed himself, receiving help from Steve Johnson and others in the student body.

Money raising events included a dunk tank, pie-in-the face and bake sale. Students, faculty, and administration all joined in these events. Some participants got into the spirit by getting dunked, in chilly 40 degree weather. Such was the case with Mr. Moberg, Mr. Marks, Mr. Plamer and others. Principal Wes Ediger also took part by getting a pie-in-the-face from Chris Acarregui and Mike Martin in the front hall.

Seniors Charge to Victory

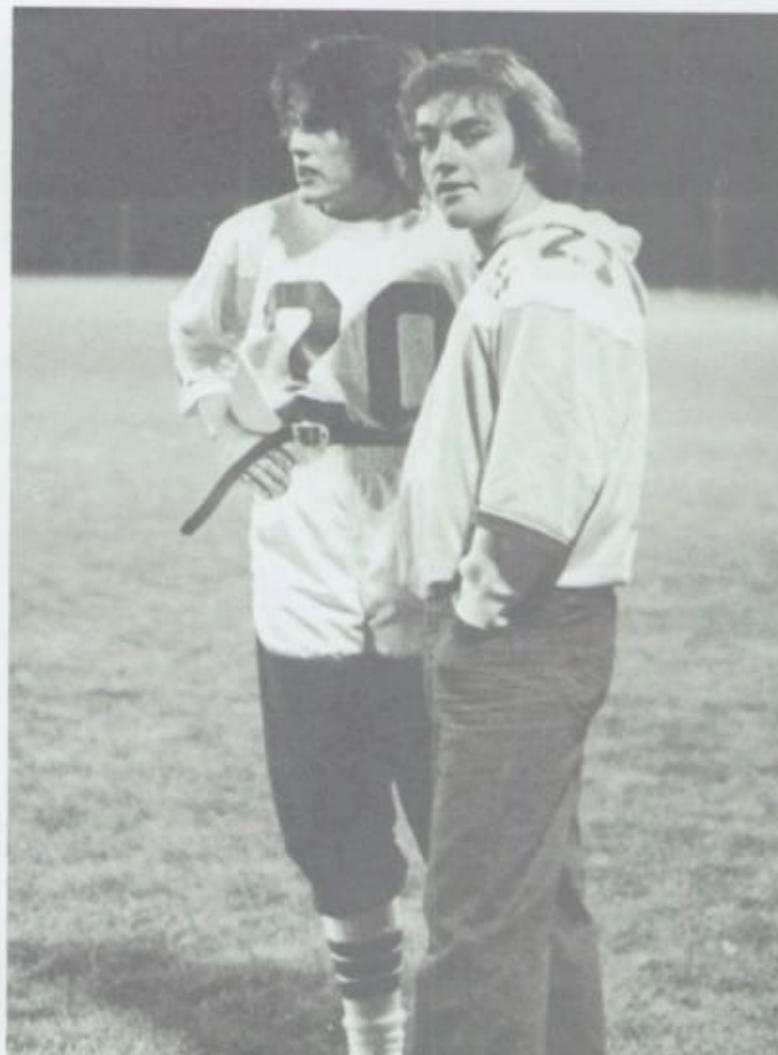

It was a cold, clear night at Bennett Field and the final game of the Powder Puff season had begun. Seniors were matched against the Sophomores for this final evening of play. The Sophomores, having downed the Juniors 12-6 earlier in the day, earned themselves the right to play the tough Senior team.

The Seniors pulled away from the evening's play with a 14-6 win against the Sophomores. Scores for the Seniors came from both Debbie Knytych and Deltra Ferguson. Sophomores could only muster one touchdown, a Lisa Wipf pass to Jan Wetherbee. Senior Julie Kitzmiller on defense was the main reason for the Sophomores' inability to score more.

A. Debbie Knytych runs with the ball, having Jan Wetherbee in hot pursuit. B. Coach Craig French converses with Deltra Ferguson about the next play. C. Tracy Knott and Val Williams raise hands in victory. D. Craig French gets mobbed by his team in pre-game warm ups.

"Auntie Mame" was the fall play recreated by South Salem from the musical "Mame." The plot of "Auntie Mame" was very similar to the original musical "Mame."

Mame was a well-to-do lady who lived in New York during the twenties. She provided a home for her orphan nephew who gave a new direction to her life.

Much of the plot centered around the activities Mame engaged in while bringing up Patrick, her nephew. Mame was a lady of many personalities and as Mrs. Quanbeck commented, "Mame is a real far out lady, even by today's standards."

Student director of the play, Nancy Rhoads, had this final comment about the play, "Each person who worked on the play "Auntie Mame" grew in understanding of life, themselves, and others around them."

Students were involved in the play in many different ways. Along with the cast of characters, there were people on the direction staff, and people on the production staff. The production staff consisted of construction, costume, program, ushering, stage, advertising, ticket, make-up, prop, refreshment, publicity, and art work crews.

Take a Sleigh-ride Through the Mall

On Saturday, December 9, Lancaster Mall was unusually busy between 9 p.m. and 1:30 a.m. Strange hours for a shopping mall? Not if that shopping mall was the location of the 25th annual Snowball, sponsored by the YWCA.

Music was provided by the Salem-based group, Odyssey, and the Master of Ceremonies was J.J. Jeffrey from the radio station, KYTE.

“Beware the little foxes”

“Beware the foxes, the little foxes that gnaw at our vines, for our vines have tender grapes.” This was one of the most famous lines in South’s rendition of Lillian Hellmen’s “The Little Foxes.” The play was a difficult one to perform, as most of the leading parts were adult, and had to be spoken in a Southern accent. Director Phyllis Quanbeck stated that the cast conquered the problem and performed their parts perfectly.

The play ran for five nights in South’s Little Theater, with only a few minor accidents occurring, such as the fire alarms going off when the oil lamps became too hot. Mrs. Quanbeck was quoted as saying after the play was over, “I’m so proud of the cast, I could almost bust my buttons.”

“Hey baby, disco down with me!”

“Wanna dance?” Your answer was most likely “Sure!” if you attended the lively Senior Dinner-Dance. Approximately 130 seniors danced to the beat of the disco band “Stratus” from Portland at the dance, held at Truffles restaurant on February 24th.

The buffet-style dinner started at 7:00 p.m. with the dance following, lasting until 12:00.

Sheri Boone headed all money raising projects and preparation for this event, receiving contributions of time and effort from many seniors, which made it successful. She felt that “the band was excellent and people really enjoyed themselves,” including guests Mr. and Mrs. Peter, Mrs. and Mrs. Merwin, Mr. Voigt, and Mr. and Mrs. Ediger.

Activities for fun, entertainment, and raising money were all a part of school life. Pep assemblies promoted spirit and honored athletes during sports seasons. Activity periods gave students opportunities to attend lectures, slide shows, band and choir performances, plays, etc. Faculty basketball games were played as fundraisers. In one game, the faculty played the senior students, and in another they took on the Walker/Leslie faculty. The "Freedom Jam" band put on a concert during school and on a Saturday night for entertainment. Red Cross held a blood drive for parents, students, and teachers to donate blood. Over 100 pints were donated. Senior Citizens' Day was held in the spring. Escorted by students, 300 senior citizens attended morning classes, ate lunch, and viewed a special program in the auditorium. Arena scheduling was a bi-annual event; students scheduled their courses for each semester during that time.

A. Bodies wait their turn to donate blood at the blood drive. B. The Faculty Basketball Team looks on as the game becomes intense. C. The "Freedom Jam" band jives to their music while performing at an assembly. D. Chris Stevens escorts a senior citizen on Senior Citizens' Day. E. Some of the "lovleis" legs in school are displayed in this contest during a pep assembly.

No spring musical this year

Instead of the musical that is usually done, the Spring Play was a two play comedy: Sganarelle and Paranormal Review. Sganarelle, directed by Karen Quanbeck, had to do with a father that wanted his daughter to marry a crazy rich guy when she was already in love with someone else.

Paranormal Review, directed by Wayne Ballantyne, was the other play. Paranormal Review was kind of a take off from Saturday Night Live.

Mrs. Phillis Quanbeck who usually directs the Spring Plays said that "it was a great play and everyone involved enjoyed it".

“Once upon a time” has happy ending

“Once upon a time” there was a committee of Saxon Juniors who raised money and planned a prom for the Seniors and Juniors of South High. The time this event occurred was May 12th at the Elks Lodge, starting at 8:00. Entertainment for this occasion was varied. The band providing the music was “Satin Raggs”. Other entertainment included half-time music by Juniors Karen Sexon and Dianna Pickens, and Senior Andy Kay, and also juggling acts provided by Glenn Kostur and Craig Bender.

The decorations and refreshments were first-class along with the ambiance of the night. According to Prom chairperson Gail Lasley, “The Prom was a success due to the hard work and determination of everyone involved. I hope everyone has a fairytale evening and left happily ever after ...”

Rotarians are active

Selecting the Rotarians was a job performed by the executive committee of the Student Council. Rotarians were chosen every month; usually there was only one, but the last month they picked co-Rotarians. These people were chosen mainly on their activeness in school. Each member attended weekly Rotary club meetings on Wednesdays.

The Rotary club also sponsored an Exchange Student program. Debbie Lantz was chosen to head up that aspect of the club.

A. Tori Peters was active as President of the Building and Grounds Committee, picking up litter around the school. B. Tracy Knott and Lorrie Harvey practice their singing in Concert Choir. C. Religious ceremony holds useful message for future

Baccalaureate, the traditional religious service for the graduating seniors, was held May 24 at 8:00 p.m.

As the organist played "Pomp and Circumstance" the seniors marched into the South-Leslie Auditorium. "All My Trials" and "An Old Irish Blessing" were sung by the Concert Choir. The Invocation and Benediction were given by Reverend Richard J. Tuff of Christ Lutheran Church. Delivering the scripture reading and the sermon, which was entitled "Wisdom Built on Solid Rock," was Reverend Gary F. Borges of Peace Lutheran Church. Following the sermon all the people attending joined in singing "Faith of Our Fathers."

Seniors sweat it out!!

On June 1st the senior class received the title it had earned, that of being the 25th graduating class of South. There were 422 members of the senior class who graduated.

The commencement began amid the traditional playing (and playing and playing . . .) of "Pomp and Circumstance." The song was accompanied by a rustling of programs being used as fans.

The two seniors selected by their classmates to speak at the commencement were Howard Hines and Mark Lambert. Howard's speech was entitled "Reflections" and Mark addressed the class with his speech "Years of Change."

The Southernaires and the Concert Band each performed one 1st number as a group. The Invocation and Benediction were given by Reverend Donald L. Bubna.

Principal Wes Ediger spoke of the class as one of great leadership and spirit which it's members had demonstrated throughout the year.

Alumna is prominent business-woman

Miss Katherine (Kay) E. Smith, of the class of 1957, is presently serving as Vice-President of Consumer Affairs with the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, Inc., in New Jersey. After graduating from South, she went to Oregon State University where she graduated with a B.S. degree. Shortly after, she began working for a gas company in Los Angeles. Later, Miss Smith worked in Minnesota for Pillsbury, where she was Director of Consumer Service in the Grocery Products Division. Before obtaining her job with The Great Atlantic Tea Company, she was a consultant for Boyle/Kirman Associates in New York City.

Miss Smith has been the recipient of the New Jersey Tribute to Women in Industry and is listed in Outstanding Young Women in America and Who's Who in American Women.

As a high school student, Miss Smith was very involved in campus life. She participated in Girl's Glee, Future Teachers of America, the Home Ec Club, ASB, Y-Teens, Spanish Club, and National Honor Society. As a Senior she was a Homecoming Hostess and was chosen December's Girl of the Month.

We have a new school to be proud of Jim Anderson, South's first ASB President accepts the new school.

Mr Aschenbrenner, Mr. Moore, Distinguished Guests and Friends.

On behalf of the student body, I would like to express our thanks for this wonderful building which the people of our community have provided for our use.

The entire student body would like to have you know that this building will be treated with respect and consideration.

We are all very proud to be members of the first student body of South Salem High School.

We are off to a good start in every phase of this school year. By continuing to work together I am sure we will make this school a high school second to none.

Thank-you.

Alumna recalls first year

Mrs. Nancy Perna, of South's first graduating class (1954), had this to say, "Believe me, it was a fantastic year. Saxon spirit and pride in our new high school were very high. Our football team tied with Marshfield, 13-13, for the state championship. Our principal, Carl Aschenbrenner, paid off his promise to get a crewcut if we won all the games in our regular season. This was done in front of the student body by the football captains, assisted by the Rally in nurses' outfits."

Mrs. Perna, who was then Nancy Sue Payne, was very involved in school activities. She was Rally Song Queen, which was what they called the Rally Captain, and President of the Interim Committee, which selected and presented to the student body for a vote, the school colors, mascots, emblems, etc. She was also a member of the Decorating Committee, National Honor Society, and the yearbook staff. In her Senior year, she was chosen Hi-Y Sweetheart.

After graduation, Mrs. Perna went to the University of Oregon, where she was again on Rally, and graduated with a degree in Elementary Education. One of her second grade pupils, Jim DeLoretto, was later an ASB President here at South.

After teaching, Mrs. Perna's main activities were raising her three children, all of whom attended South. She has also been active in Christian groups, has taught tap dancing, and coached a gymnastics team for seven years. She likes to snow and water ski and play tennis and golf with her family. Currently she devotes much of her time to her husband's business, which is located in Salem. He manufactures recreational cartop carriers.

A. Nancy Sue poses for her official picture as Hi-Y Sweetheart. B. The Song Queens, Betty Bishop, Lynn Morey, Nancy Sue Payne (Perna), and Betty Harrison, lead the school in the new school song. C. Here she is shown as she is twenty-five years after graduation with her husband, Marc.

Pictures on these two pages were furnished by Nancy Perna. Thanks!

From 1954 . . .

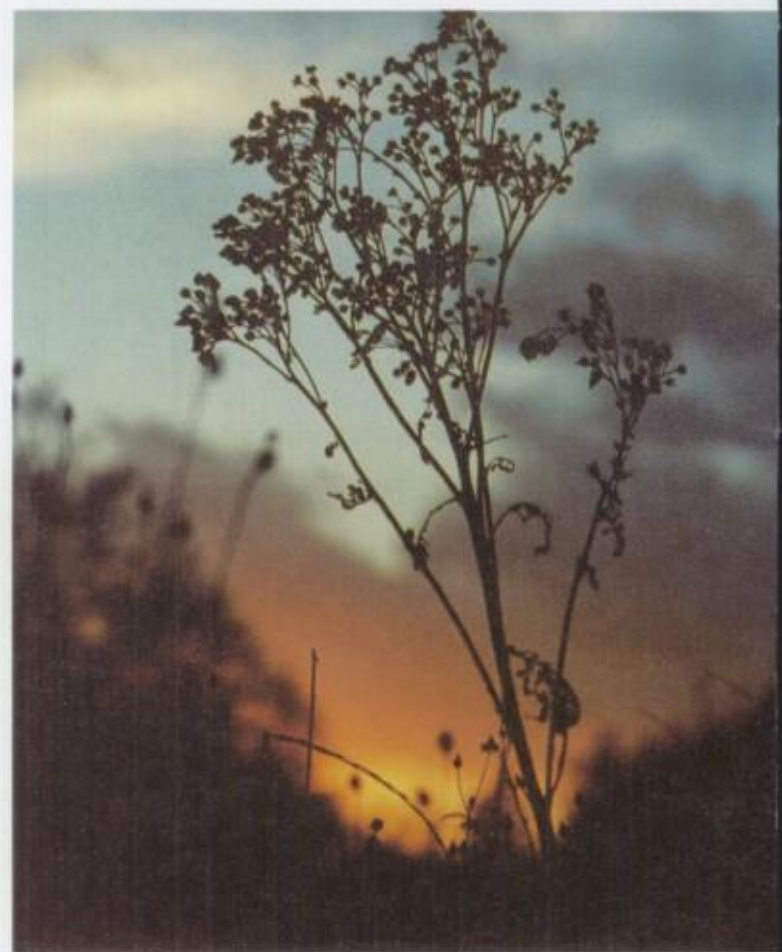

Celebrate
For the roots that keep us firm
In this country built with sweat
And the blood of those who dreamed
It could be free.

... To 1979

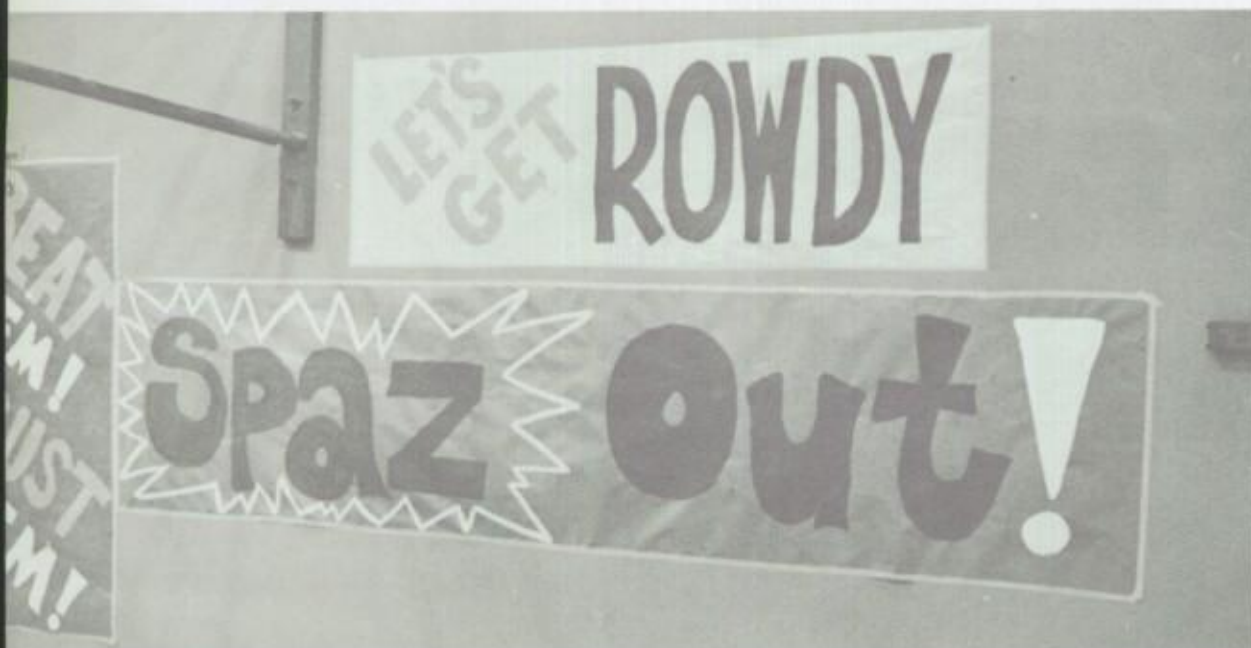

Celebrate
For the beauty of this ageless world,
New with every waking dawn
Yet silent witness of the twilight falling
On myriad generations.

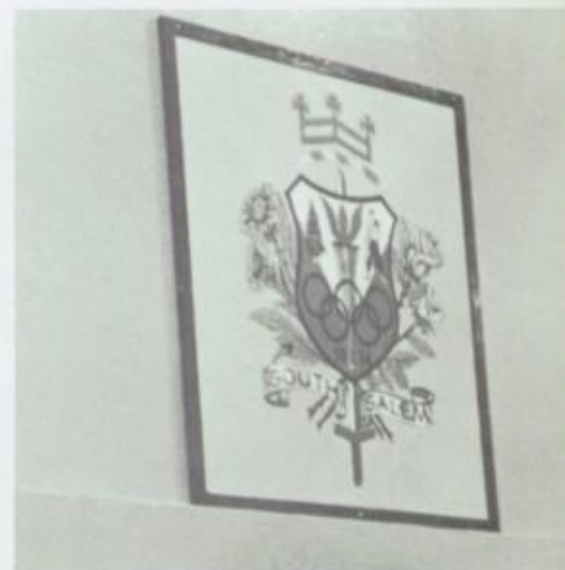

Celebrate
The growth of the human mind;
Still struggling to understand itself
And the playground of this universe.

Celebrate
The pride we share in doing well,
The victories that leave us glowing;
The defeats that make those
Victories sweet, and spur us on to Rise triumphant from the dust.

Celebrate
Life to the limit of its dusky horizon;
To the realm of stars and moon;
To the depth of all feeling and understanding.
Life to be lived, not only endured.

Celebrate
For the person you are today,
A glimmer of what you'll be tomorrow,
And a shadow fading before the Memory of yesterday.
